U. S. SEEKS SWIFT TRIAL FOR LEWIS

U. S. CONSIDERS OPERATION OF TWO PIPELINES

Government Studies Uses of Big, Little Inch in Coal Stoppage.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—The interior department told a congressional committee today it was "tentatively considering" government operation of the $143,000,000 war-built big inch and little inch pipelines for transmissions of gas to relieve some effects of the coal strike in the east.

However, Assistant Interior Secretary C. Girard Davidson testified, the department has not yet reached a final decision. Questions remain, he said, on whether such operation is feasible from an engineering standpoint and whether the operation should be undertaken by the government or private companies.

"If this (coal) strike is a prolonger one," Davidson told the house surplus property investigating committee, "then the department will do everything it can, including the use of these lines, if feasible, to alleviate the coal shortage."

The 1,500-mile lines, reaching from the Texas oil and gas fields to the eastern seaboard, were built during the war to transport oil when German submarines destroyed many American tank ships.

Slaughter Scores Vagueness

Chairman Slaughter (D-Mo) told Davidson when he completed his testimony that "your testimony is so vague and nebulous it is hardly of any help," and indicated the committee will call Interior Secretary Krug for more detailed information.

Davidson said the interior department already has conferred with Robert M. Littlejohn, war assets administrator, who now has charge of the surplus lines and with the federal power commission relative to temporary use of the lines.

He said both agencies were cooperative and the study now is based on such problems as finding gathering lines, dehydration equipment, inspection of the lines, and the distribution problem after the gas is delivered in the east.

Rep. Rizley of Oklahoma, ranking Republican on the surplus property committee, declared that the line should be operated by the government during the emergency on the same basis that they delivered oil during the war emergency.

Asks Appearance

Chairman Slaughter (D-Mo) asked for Davidson's appearance after a pipe line official testified that he had discussed with Davidson an interim lease of the lines.

Arthur G. Logan, general counsel for Big Inch Natural Gas Transmission Co., said he discussed this possibility with Davidson last Thursday and was told the interior department had not reached a decision on the question of using the lines for gas.

Slaughter told reporters later that he wants to know why "nothing apparently has been done because in an emergency a week is a long time."

Spokesmen for the two other pipe line companies told the committee their companies are prepared to begin moving from 50,000,000 to 225,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas through the lines in two to four weeks.

They are Claude A. Williams, president of Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Co., Inc., and Gardiner Symonds, president of Tennessee Gas and Transmission Co.

None Suggest Amount

None of the witnesses suggested that the amount of gas which could be carried through the big and little inch lines would be a complete substitute for the coal lost through the strike. They did say, however, that the amount would help meet what they anticipate will be a greatly increased demand for gas if the strike continues.

They said the additional natural gas would be especially helpful in the highly industrial Ohio-western Pennsylvania area, which includes Pittsburgh.

Slaughter commented that movement of natural gas through the government-owned lines, built during the war for emergency transportation of petroleum, "might serve an indirect beneficial purpose by letting Mr. Lewis (John L. Lewis, president of the striking United Mine Workers) know that natural gas can be moved through the lines and that they might be so used permanently."

The pipelines run from Texas petroleum fields to the middle Atlantic coast area.

Fighting Renewed At Strike - Bound Allis - Chalmers

By The Associated Press

In other labor disputes across the country, in addition to the major coal crisis there was a renewal of fighting on the picket line at the huge Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing plant in West Allis, Wis.

Clashes between pickets and police occurred during a mass demonstration yesterday by more than 4,000 Milwaukee area CIO workers. Six persons were injured and 16 arrested.

CIO United Auto Workers spokesmen predicted a daily mass picketing at the plant, strike-bound for seven months by a walkout of about 12,000 CIO-UAW employes. Governor Walter E. Goodland, saying he was ready to call national guardsmen if necessary to maintain order, termed the stoppage a "damn fool strike."

In St. Paul, Minn., the 77 public schools remained closed by a strike of teachers who went on picket duty yesterday while the city's 36,578 school children had an enforced holiday. An eight-member negotiating committtee planned further sessions today in an effort to reach settlement of the wage dispute.

A strike also called for Monday in nearby Minneapolis by the men's local of the AFL American Federation of Teachers was "held in abeyance." A union spokesman said the members had not yet accepted a board of education settlement offer on salaries.

A walkout by five teachers in Fort Dodge Ia., closed four schools of the Pleasant Valley rural district.

In McMinville, Tenn., Warren county school teachers who struck Nov. 18 in support of demands for $20 a month wage increases, were ordered back to their jobs next Monday without a pay hike.

However, the board of education said it would ask the county court to grant the increase at its regular January meeting. Three high schools opened but the other 32 schools remained closed. High school teachers now receive from $120 to $230 a month and elementary teachers from $89 to $153.

Wage negotiations between AFL American Federation of Radio Artists and the four major networks were to be resumed today. The radio actors, singers and other broadcast artists have threatened a strike. Principal stumbling block in agreeing on a new contract reportedly was a demand by AFRA that the chains withhold programs by AFRA members from affiliated stations that have rejected AFRA efforts to organize.

BUCYRUS MAN BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY

Pleads Not Guilty In Stabbing of Son-in-Law.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 26—Gus Wilburn today pleaded not guilty to a charge of stabbing with intent to kill in Mayor R. L. Hertzler's court and was bound over to the Crawford county grand jury on $5,000 bond.

Wilburn claimed he stabbed his son-in-law, Kenneth Turner, 26, in self-defense at their home here Saturday night. Turner's condition at Bucyrus City hospital was given today as "fair." Hospital attendants said he is "holding his own." He is suffering from deep stab and slash wounds in the abdomen.

Police said Wilburn stabbed Turner during a fight at their home Saturday night.

HIT-SKIP KILLER OF 2 SURRENDERS

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Nov. 26—Lieutenant Cletus McGuckin of the police traffic department reported today a 25-year-old railroad worker had surrendered to police and admitted being the driver of an automobile which struck and killed a youthful couple here last night.

The officer identified the man as Joseph G. Riley of Akron and said a formal charge of manslaughter would be placed against him later today.

Lt. McGuckin said Riley told him he heard a thud as he drove his car on E. Market street just east of the railroad bridge at the Union passenger depot. McGuckin quoted Riley as saying he got out of his car, saw the couple lying in the street and drove away immediately.

"I was crazy for driving away," the officer quoted Riley.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Joan Good, 22, mother of two children, and Thomas George, also 22, and a former resident of Dover, O.

They were pronounced dead on arrival at City hospital. A steady rain was falling at the time the couple was hit.

10 INJURED IN PALESTINE RIOT

British Troops Battle Shipload of Illegal Immigrants with Tear Gas.

By The Associated Press

HAIFA, Palestine, Nov. 26—Steel-helmeted British troops using tear-gas, fire hoses and clubs put down a riot of shouting Jewish refugees aboard the immigrant ship Hameri Haivri (Lochita) today after an hour-long battle in which 10 soldiers were injured, four seriously.

The battle was touched off when troops board the ship, biggest yet to attempt the dash to Palestline, to begin the removal of the illegal immigrants to three British troopships, to await a legal decision on their future. It was reported that 3,370 refugees were aboard.

"The blighters were" tossing full tins of UNRRA food at us," a police officer said. "It was ankle-deep on the dock."

At the height of the fight the passengers hung a huge banner over the side of the ship. It was signed "commander-in-chief, Jewish resistance movement," and read: "For every Jew murdered or wounded aboard this ship, you will pay in English blood. You have been warned."

Soldiers were repulsed in their first attempt to board the ship, and returned shortly armed with tear-gas, hose and clubs. Fourteen gun bursts were fired in the air, but the refugees would not be cowed.

About 50 of the immigrants leaped overboard and were picked up. Some 30 others jumped to the deck of a nearby tug, but were brought back.

Disembarkation began an hour and a half after the ship entered Haifa harbor. The immgirants were taken ashore in launches and transferred to the troopships.

LEWIS AND UMW ORDERED BEFORE VIRGINIA COURT

Must Answer Injunction Against Selling Memberships.

By The Associated Press

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 26—John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers have orders to appear before the Virginia corporation commission Monday to show cause why a temporary injunction should not be entered against the union ordering that sale of memberships be ceased, as a violation of the state securities law.

C. Victor Werne, counsel of the Richmond Better Business Bureau, instituted proceedings yesterday before the commission charging that Lewis and the UMW were violating the Virginia "blue sky" law by selling memberships. He asserted that the 1942 Virginia general assembly defined memberships "such as issued by United Mine Workers" as securities under Virginia statutes.

Governor William M. Tuck declared that the "full weight" of the state would be thrown into the action if there is "any solid ground at all for the suit."

Whether or not union memberships can be construed as "securities" is expected to be the main argument at the Monday hearing. Under the "blue sky" law, securities must be qualified prior to sale.

Alpine Crash Survivors To Eat Thanksgiving Dinner Together

By The Associated Press

VIENNA, Nov. 26—A dozen Americans who spent five days marooned on a treacherous glacier high in the Swiss Alps will sit down together Thursday at a traditional American Thanksgiving day banquet, and together give thanks for their dramatic rescue.

The 12, six of them still hospitalized here, made the Thanksgiving dinner date last Thursday, when there was little hope that they would be anywhere on that feast day but on the crevasse-laced Gauli glacier, huddled in their crashed C-53 transport plane.

They had feared—although they hesitated to admit it to each other—that there was not much hope for them. But what the four women and the 11-year-old girl among them did not know was that a crevasse 150 yards from their plane was beginning to crack even while their discussion was under way, and that they were on the brink of disaster. The men told the women the noise they heard was only the fuselage, cracking because of the cold.

Girl Ignorant of Crash

Little Alice Mary McMahon, now snug in the home of Brig. Gen. Loyal M. Haynes, one of her fellow passengers, did not even know the plane had crash-landed until she was told. She said she believed it was just another of the heavy downdrafts the plane had been hitting for several hours.

All the little girl wanted to forget about the whole ordeal—and she is afraid it will be the one thing that will be remembered—is that when the party began moving their luggage out of the plane just after the crash, she asked: "Will you please get that little bag of mine so I can have my paper dolls?" She got them.

Passenger Surprised

Another of the passengers, civilian George D. Harvey, was puzzled to learn that he had not been listed in the plane's manifest. A war department employe at headquarters in Austria, he said he was on official business with orders to proceed to the 61st Quartermaster Depot at Livorno, Italy, on temporary duty. He missed the plane on which he was scheduledf to fly originally, he said, and was granted permission by the pilot of the C-53 to fly in that ship.

(The C-53 was being buried today under an Alpine snowfall, a dispatch from Meiringen, Switzerland, reported. It quoted one of the Alpinist rescuers as saying "It will be next spring before we see the plane again, and, if the crevasse opens up there, we will never see it again." A score of climbers remained in the hut halfway down the icy slope with supplies and equipment moved there for the rescue, which finally had been effected Sunday with Swiss Fieseler-Storch planes.)

GAS TRUCK, CARGO DESTROYED BY FIRE

8,500 Gallons Go Up in Blaze Near Delaware.

A double trailer load of 8,500 gallons of gasoline caught fire and burned a mile south of Delaware on Route 42 today at 2:30 a. m., causing state highway patrolmen to reroute traffic temporarily, The Associated Press reported.

One of the trailers blew up and traffic was rerouted until it was certain the other would not, the patrol said. The semi-trailer truck and its load was reported a total loss.

Russell C. Miller, 33, of Toboso told patrolmen he lost control of the truck when he swerved to avoid hitting an unidentified animal which ran across the road. He was not seriously injured. The trailers were owned by Refiners Transport Terminal of Newark, the patrol said.

Santa Claus, on His Way To Marion, Writes Letter Today As He Speeds Into Greenland

Northern Greenland

Nov. 26, 1946

HI KIDS:

Did you notice where I'm writing this letter from? Yep, we're sailing across northern Greenland now, and pretty soon we'll be getting into southern Greenland. We left the North Pole at 6 o'clock this morning, before you folks were up, I'll bet, and this old eight-reindeer power bobsled is hitting on all eight right now.

I've got Dunder and Blitzen and Dasher and Dancer and Comet and Cupid and Prancer and Vixen — same old gang, and they sure love to go. They were just a little worried that some hunter down there in Ohio would mistake them for a deer, but I told them they wouldn't have to worry about anything like that—they're faster than a speeding bullet.

Mrs. Santa Claus is here right behind me — don't say I told you, but she's just a little bit of a back seat driver. As if I didn't know which way was south from the North Pole! But she's just so anxious to meet you kids, especially all you good little girls, which of course is the entire little girl population of Marion.

We just passed an Eskimo village down there. All the igloos — those are snow houses —were arranged in a circle. The little Eskimo kids came out to wave at us as we went over. Do you know that their night is five months long? Imagine sleeping for five months! I suppose the sleepy heads among the Eskimo roll over in the spring and say, "Oh, let me sleep another month." They're going to sleep right through Christmas and New Year's and maybe even Washington's birthday. Think of all the fun they're going to miss.

There's only one thing that's bothering me. I hear there isn't any snow yet down around Marion. How can I get my sleigh down there without any snow? That is a problem. But I'll get there, kids, don't worry about that. Mrs. Santa Claus and I will be at that parade Friday noon, no matter what.

City Acts To Work Out Plan To Comply with Power Dimout

Steps to set up a coal-conserving light and power curtailment program in Marion were being taken today following Gov. Lausche's emergency proclamation yesterday.

Marion retailers were meeting in the Chamber of Commerce offices this afternoon to discuss the provisions of U-14 of the civilian production administration that forbids the use of electricity except for essential purposes and Harold H. Grigsby, manager of the Marion division of the Ohio Public Service Co. and a vice president of the company announced he was giving notice to all Marion commercial users of electricity of U-14 provisions to which the governor has said compliance is mandatory.

Marion retailers had originally scheduled their meeting for tomorrow morning, but changed it to this afternoon after they had been advised of the light company's action. Chamber officials said Marion businesses were anxious to cooperate in all manner possible to assist in the nationwide coal-conserving program.

Compliance with U-14 provisions would black out Marion's Christmas lights and reduce lighting in the business district to essential uses.

Power Uses Banned

U-14 of the civilian production administration provides that no consumer shall use electricity for any of the following purposes: refrigeration for air-conditioning except to the extent essential for industrial purposes or health and safety, outdoor and indoor advertising and promotional lighting, outdoor display and flood lighting except to the extent necessary for the conduct of outdoor business or services, outdoor or indoor decorative and ornamental lighting, show window or show case lighting, marquee lighting in excess of 60 watts for each marquee, white way street lighting in excess of the amount determined by local public authority to be necessary for public safety and outdoor and indoor sign lighting with certain exceptions.

Mayor Calls Meeting

Mayor Harry L. Dowler has called a meeting of coal dealers, utility officials and retailers tonight at 7:30 in the council chamber to discuss the coal situation here. It was generally understood that tonight's meeting would primarily concern a discussion of coal conservation methods here rather than provisions of the dimout order. Marion retailers have appointed two representatives to attend the meeting, Harold Carroll and C. E. Jennings.

Chamber of Commerce officials said a survey began this morning in the downtown stores to determine heating problems and available coal supplies.

While most of Ohio's larger cities, with the exception of Columbus, dimmed their lights Monday night, Marion's lights remained on.

Gov. Lausche yesterday proclaimed a state of emergency in Ohio as a result of the coal mine shutdown and called for public and private conservation of "all fuel possible." He termed the coal shortage as a potential "menace to the health and safety of the people of our state."

The governor's action, according to The Associated Press, followed a telephone conversation with members of the interior department in Washington in which he said he was told that emergency federal regulations ordered because of work stoppage in the soft coal mines were mandatory in all Ohio cities and those of 20 other states.

Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus, however, denied the brownout regulations were mandatory. He said that until he heard "officially" that the regulations were compulsory he would continue "under the present

Chrysler Announces $8-$104 Price Jump

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Nov. 26 — Price increases ranging from $8 to $104 on Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto and Chrysler cars were announced today by Chrysler Corp.

The company said Detroit factory retail prices "are being adjusted in conformance with current costs," but did not give out revised price lists.

"These adjustments will vary by body type and will range from an increase of $8 on the lowest-priced Plymouth four-door sedan to $104 on the more expensive Chrysler New Yorker four-door sedan," a Chrysler statement said.

U. S. PRESSES DISARMAMENT

Seeks Quick Action by UN; Holds Troop Count Is Secondary.

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 26—The United States prepared today to press for immediate United Nations action on a world arms limitation program, including international control of atomic energy.

Authoritative sources said the U. S. delegation was anxious to dispose of the world troop inventory question and concentrate on disarmament, which it considers the most important issue before the 54-member UN political and security committee.

Because of this position, these sources said, the U. S. was "likely" to vote against a British proposal for an "on-the-spot" double check of a troop census demanded by Soviet Russia.

The United States was understood to feel that if the troop inspection proposal were adopted the major problem of arms limitation would be indefinitely delayed.

There was a possibility that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov would appear before the political committee today to oppose the new British proposal

In submitting the inspection board proposal, Britain said it

MARION MAN NAMED TO VETS JOB POST

Francis C. Fields Will Serve Four Counties.

Announcement was made today of the appointment of Francis C. Fields of 489 North Prospect street as field assistant of the veterans employment service by Wendell B. Edgerley, veterans employment representative for Ohio.

Mr. Fields will serve as field assistant for Hardin, Wyandot, Crawford and Morrow counties.

Mr. Field is a combat veteran of three years service in World War II with an outstanding service record. He is County Commander of the American Legion for Marion County.

Previous to this appointment Mr. Fields has been veterans employment representative of the Ohio state employment service office here.

In announcing the appointment, Mr. Edgerley said, "This is the start of a special job drive for veterans. This action is putting into effect the intent of the GI bill to promote the interest of employers in hiring veterans."

Mr. Edgerley pointed out that the veterans employment service is charged under the GI bill with the responsibility of furnsihing an adequate employment placement and counseling service for veterans. These services are provided through the Ohio state employment service. "The need for this special force is apparent," Mr. Edgerley said, "when we note almost 50,000 World War II veterans were drawing readjustment allowance benefits at the end of October in Ohio, and an unusually large number of disabled veterans have been unable to find the jobs they seek. We are not going after jobs for these men on the basis of patriotism but on their proven abilities to produce."

Mr. Fields can be reached through any Ohio state employment service local office in the area in which he is serving.

MARKETS TO CLOSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—Financial and commodity markets throughout the United States will be closed Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 28.

TO PRESS FOR SPEED AS COAL CRISIS GROWS

Ask Renewal of Court Hearing Friday; Clamp New Curbs On.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 — The government, racing against factory shutdowns and emptying coal bins, aimed today for swift trial of John L. Lewis and clamped down sharp new curbs to save the nation's fast ebbing supplies of fuel.

Federal attorneys said they would press for speed at every possible point when Lewis' trial on contempt charges begins tomorrow. Thursday — Thanksgiving Day — will be a holiday, but government lawyers said they would ask Judge T. Alan Goldsborough for a Friday session, breaking into the traditional long weekend after a holiday.

A high administration aide said the government had pinned all its hopes for an early end to the strike on the legal proceedings. No other action was presently contemplated.

To Get No Coal Mined

In themselves, the legal moves would get no coal mined. Nor would putting Lewis in jail, as could be done if he was found guilty of contempt. But the official indicated the hope was that the legal tactics would "soften up" Lewis and push him toward making an agreement with the mines' private owners on a working contract for his 400,000 United Mine Workers.

The hope was that Lewis—instead of pursuing a strike which the official said might prove disastrous to his miners as well as to the national economy — would seek a face-saving end to the controversy.

By bargaining with the private owners, the official suggested, Lewis could gracefully slide out of the present situation without loss of prestige and without yielding on his demands, since he has never specifically stated his demands.

May Relinquish Control

At the same time, the government could relinquish its unwanted control over the mines which it seized during last spring's 59-day strike.

Government attorneys conceded that the federal district court trial might last days, perhaps weeks—and longer than the national economy could possibly stand the strangulation of its basic fuel supply.

The contempt issue — which could result in jail for Lewis and stiff fines for him and the union —will be taken up first in the double-action trial.

Then the court will explore the question of permanently restraining UMW's strike action which has halted coal digging in 26 states.

Based on Disregard

The contempt count is based on Lewis' disregard for Judge Goldsborough's order of last week that he rescind his termination of the miners' contract with the government. In yesterday's brief hearing, ending with setting of the trial for Wednesday, Lewis' attorneys contended Judge Goldsborough had no authority in law to issue the order.

As the strike went into its sixth day, more than 28,000 workers in other industries already had been thrown off their jobs.

Schools, steel mills, railroads and hundreds of communities began to feel the pinch acutely.

The government clamped down new curbs on deliveries of coal to schools and all government buildings, ruling that they must apply to the Washington office of the solid fuels administration for permits.

Orders Stocks Held

The SFA ordered emergency coal stocks held strictly for public utilities—such as electricity, gas, sewage disposal service and street railway transportation — and for such other essential services as railroads, laundries, dairies, bakeries, refrigeration plants, steamships, and for heating homes, apartments and hotels. Coal-burning railroads had already cut passenger service by 25 per cent yesterday.

A rigid checkup was ordered on the coal-saving dimout, which became effective at 6 p. m. yester-

Ace Cop Tells Boyle Thieves Make One Error

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—When Bill Mulligan was a rookie cop, a surprised robber pointed a gun squarely in his freckled Irish face.

So Bill did what "New York's finest" are expected to do. He came in swinging with his nightstick and pulped down the man and his gun and hauled in his first arrest.

Hal Boyle

In the 20 years since, Mulligan, now one of America's finest jewel theft detectives, has brought some 1,000 underworld characters before the bar of justice.

They were "muggers," stick-up artists, car looters, sneak thieves, pickpockets, and—now Bill's special prey — the boys with a fast hand for the glitter: jewel thieves.

Mulligan, who has recovered several hundred thousand dollars worth of stolen twinklers, often before the owners missed them, has achieved a philosophy that covers people who don't protect their property, and people who reach out to grab it."

"Everybody's A Sucker"

"Everybody's a sucker," he says. And he doesn't except cops named Mulligan.

Bill is only 42. The freckles are beginning to dry up from so many years of night work. The hair has taken a short escalator ride up his forehead. But he's still built like a light college quarterback, and the only extra fuel he takes on is fifteen to twenty cups of coffee a day.

"Most the guys I tail are great coffee drinkers," he said.

Bill is one of Manhattan's top "tailers." Dick Feehan, a veteran police reporter, who knows more about the force than the boys in City Hall, says Bill could follow three strange eels through a tank of oil and come out the other side with handcuffs on the one with a police record.

"No, I never used a disguise," said Mulligan. "That's for the fiction books. It's up to you not to make any wrong moves to arouse the thief's suspicions."

When a series of jewel thefts break out, Bill and his detective pals usually have no suspect. They just tail people they meet and don't feel right about—the choice is the good dectictive's test—until the right one gets off base, or as Bill says, until he "moves." Then they grab him at the scene with the evidence on him.

One of Bill's toughest cases was old William Hahn, 64, for forty years an astute jewel thief. Bill nailed him three times.

Tailed Him 2 Weeks

He tripped him first in 1934 after tailing him two weeks around the clock, He nabbed him after watching Hahn break into fifteen houses in a single day—"Sweet William" was selective and would walk right out if the jewelry was too trashy for his taste.

"First time I ever was caught with the meat in my mouth," said Hahn grudgingly.

So "Sweet William" went to Sing Sing and was released after a restful sojourn. Bill pinned him again in 1942. Hahn was a bit Mulligan-shy when he next got out, but he still missed the rich folk's cash and gleamers.

Hahn Returns

Last year he emerged from somebody else's house, and just as he disdainfully started to toss away somebody else's wallet from which he had just plucked somebody else's dough, Bill stepped up behind him and said: "I'll take that."

"What, Bill, you again?" said Hahn. "I retire!"

He has—so far—and boasted on the way to prison: "I haven't got a quarter, but in the last forty years I stole millions. Where? You find out."

Bill said many thieves were "criminal wise but they aren't overbright and the law of averages always gets them—always." The one mistake all thieves make?

"Being thieves," said Bill.

Marion Man Wins Naval Citation

David K. McKinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. McKinney of 180 East Washington street, a yeoman first class aboard the U. S. S. Evans, has been awarded the Presidential Unit citation for his participation in a battle with 100 Japanese planes May 11, 1945, according to a letter received by him from Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal.

McKinney commanded an after fire control station aboard the destroyer Evans. During the attack, which occurred 40 miles northwest of the Okinawa Transport area, 14 enemy planes were shot down before four Japanese suicide planes crashed on the ship, causing a fire amidships. During the action McKinney was wounded in the head and arm and one out of six men aboard were listed as casualties. The ship was pulled into a port at Okinawa.

McKinney enlisted in the Navy in January, 1942, and he was discharged in February, 1946.

Canaan Grange Meets At Hall in Denmark

Members of the home economics committee for next year were named when Canaan Grange met Thursday at the hall in Denmark, with Floyd Pangborn, master, in charge. Appointed on the committee were Mrs. Francis Bolinger, Mrs. Clayton Groves, Mrs. Morris Payne, Mrs. James Gist, and Mrs. Mildred Hipsher. Lowell Douce was appointed chorister.

During the lecture hour, a reading, "In a Mansion Grand and Stately," was given by W. A. Stoffer, and Mrs. Russell Gillson, lecturer, read a poem and told the story of the picture, "Pilgrims Going to Church" by Boughton. Each member present was given a copy of the picture. Ray Roller of the Mt. Gilead Soil Conservation Office showed two films, "Proper Use of Fertilizer" and "For Years to Come." Refreshments were served by the committee for the month, headed by Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Nance.

Two Little Girls In Michigan Will Soon Think Marion's OK

Two little girls in Walled Lake, Mich. are in for a pleasant surprise soon.

They are the sisters who lost a 12-pound bag of hickory nuts from a parked car recently and whose disappointment was reported in last Saturday's Star. They had spent the whole day gathering the nuts, and their parents, former residents of Marion, wrote The Star from Michigan that their daughters were very much disillusioned about Marion.

But the little girls are due to get a 12-pound, and maybe a bit more, bag of hickory nuts pretty soon. A woman subscriber of The Star, who lives on a farm near Caledonia, read the story today and come into The Star office to find out the name and address of the Michigan people. She said she has gathered plenty of hickory nuts, and she couldn't think of a better use for some of them.

So it looks like the younger sister of the two is going to have a hickory nut birthday cake for her fourth birthday after all.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT WALDO CHURCH

Second Program in Anniversary Series Conducted.

The special anniversary service of St. Joseph's Evangelical and Reformed church at Waldo Sunday night, second in a series of services observing the fiftieth year since dedication of the church, was marked by special numbers by this year's confirmation class, an illustrated lecture, "The Puritans in America," and reading of letters from former pastors.

Given special recognition were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Klingel, John and Phillip Augenstein and Wesley Weser. Mr. Weser attended the Sunday school when the congregation met for services near Norton, and the others were among the first members received after the church was located at Waldo.

Donald Beringer, a member of the fiftieth year confirmation class, read Scripture, and an instrumental trio was presented by other members of the class, William Groll, Betty Fogle and Esta Belle Doerres. The lecture was by Mrs. H. N. Doerres.

Letters were read from the president of the Northwest synod of the denomination, Dr. L. V. Shinn of Toledo, and from former pastors of the church, Rev. A. George Schmid of Sheboygan Falls, Wis., who was ordained at Waldo in 1910, and from Rev. R. L. Barr, now chaplain of the Soldiers and Sailors Orphans' home at Xenia, who preceded the present pastor, Rev. H. N. Doerres. Another aniversary year service will be held next Sunday night, Rev. Doerres announced.

Russian Communist Party Has Great Influence but No Powers

(Second of a series of five articles on the elementary organization of Russian life by Eddy Gilmore, who has been living in the Soviet Union for the past five years as Associated Press chief of bureau at Moscow.)

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Nov. 26—Although the Communist party in Russia, with roughly 6,000,000 members, has, to put it mildly, enormous influence, it does not and cannot govern or assume any authority over the laws or citizens of the Soviet Union.

It can pass no laws as such, nor can it repeal them. It can issue no orders of conscription, declare no wars, make no pacts or agreements with other countries, and issue no orders to the police. It is not the government of the U.S.S.R.

But large numbers of Soviet people in the government are members of the party. If the Communist party does not govern, then what does it do?

It gives directives to the government. There has been no occasion I know of when the government has gone against what the party thinks is good for the U.S.S.R. and its people. The party prides itself on being of the masses and hence close to their wants and needs.

If you ask a party member why there is only one party in Russia, he probably will tell you that political parties are an expression of class interests and that the Russian people have a class interest—that of building socialism; hence, he argues, there is no reason for another party.

To get into the Communist party one has to appear as an applicant, with the recommendation of several party members, the number required varying. The application is studied carefully, along with the applicant's character, including such questions as to whether he is motivated by self-interest.

Must Wait Year

The candidate must wait for a year before he is accepted—if he is accepted—although during the war this was shortened for persons who had especially distinguished themselves on the field of battle.

Today the emphasis is on bringing younger blood into the party, and the applicants must live a spotless life of relative simplicity and must study, study, study.

Members of the party I know—and I know hundreds of them—keep very long hours, work tirelessly and uncomplainingly and are great patriots. They are interested in politics and well informed in international events. They know Russia and Russian literature, arts and culture.

Above all, party members know what they want and how to get it. They are loyal to the party and literally live and think in the interests of the party and country. They have definite ideas about virtually every subject and are not afraid to give you an answer. Girls and boys may apply for membership at 18.

Party Congress at Top

At the top of the party organization is the all-union party congress which meets every four years. It has hundreds of delegates from all over the country.

Next is the central committee. Between sessions of the all-union congress, the central committee issues party decrees.

A political bureau, the "politburo," now consisting of 14 members, alternates. It has great influence. All its members occupy high posts.

There are also the secretariat, auditing commission, commission of party control and organization bureau.

The central committee appoints editors of party papers. The main party paper is Pravda, published in Moscow, but there are hundreds of Pravdas throughout the country. Izvestia, Trud and Red Star are not party papers.

Otterbein Head To Speak at Kenton

KENTON, Nov. 26—J. Gordon Howard, president of Otterbein college, will be the speaker when a Sunday school convention is held here on Sunday, Dec. 1, in First Presbyterian church.

All churches in Hardin county will participate in the affair, the first to be held since 1941. Dr. William Thompson of the Ohio council of churches will also appear on the program.

Masonic Officers Elect At Meeting in Prospect

C. Emery Johnson, of Belle Center, was elected president of the Masonic Officers association of the Fifteenth Masonic district at the annual meeting held at Prospect Monday afternoon and night.

Elected to serve with him, were William J. Thomas, master of Sojourners Lodge No. 653, vice president, and Harold W. Hall of Marion, secretary-treasurer.

In addition to the annual meeting of the association, the past masters degree was conferred upon the masters-elect of the 17 lodges which comprise the district. The conferring of the degree was in charge of James C. Musser, of DeGraff, district deputy grand master.

At 6:30 a dinner was served by the Eastern Star, after which the Fellowcraft degree was conferred by a group of officers selected from the various lodges of the district, with Ralph G. Williamson of Marion presiding as master.

In attendance from Marion were Mr. Williamson, William J. Thomas, Edwin P. King, George Stafford, Wilfred F. Schweinfurth, Harry C. Williams, Fred R. White, Stuart E. Jones, Albert J. Firestone, Floyd Furtch, Clifford Welch, Frank P. Eyster, Carl O. Jordan, Fred J. Wilson, Aquilla B. Crawford and Harold W. Hall.

Plans were made for a work meeting to be held at Marion Saturday, Jan. 11, beginning at 2 p. m. with all the degrees being conferred by a select corp of officers from the various lodges.

Marion, Kenton Men Officers in ROTC

A Marion man and a Kenton man, students in Ohio State university's army Reserve Officers Training Corps unit, were among 110 appointed to officer ranks to direct the activities of the newly-reorganized provisional regiment. They are Donald L. Dodrill of Marion, appointed to the rank of second lieutenant, and Max W. Cotterman of Kenton, to the rank of first lieutenant. The appointments were made recently by Col. Francis A. March, acting commander of the OSU unit. Robert B. Relf of Columbus was appointed cadet major to act as student commander of the unit.

C. and O. To Organize Reservation Service

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26—Robert R. Young, Chairman of the Chesapeake and Ohio Lines, announced yesterday the latest innovation in his far-reaching campaign to modernize the railroad industry. It is the "Reserve-ItAnd-Pay-As-You-Go" plan for train travel which, he said, should be available on the C. and O. Lines—including the Pere Marquette and Nichel Plate—sometime in January. The plan will be called "Pay-As-You-Go—On The C. and O." under which travelers may phone in advance for either a coach seat or Pullman space, go directly to the train without stopping at the ticket window, occupy the reserved space and pay for the ticket on board.

G.O.P. Plans Inquiry Into Communist Influence in U. S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—An exposure of Communist influence in the government, in unions and in Hollywood was ticketed today as the chief business for the house committee on un-American activities in the new congress.

Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), who will head the group, made clear in a statement that President Truman's move to "purge" the federal payrolls of Communists and "subversive" persons would not deter the committee from pressing its own inquiry in that field.

He listed as a committee aim to expose and ferret out the Communists and Communist sympathizers in the federal government."

Mr. Truman, by executive order created an interagency commission yesterday to work out standards and procedures for locating and dismissing disloyal persons who have gained federal employment.

The commission also is to make recommendations on whether present regulations give the government adequate protection against employment of disloyal and subversive persons. It is to report to Mr. Truman by Feb. 1.

The President's action was in line with recommendations made last summer by a house civil service subcommittee.

The commission will be made up of one representative each from the justice, state, treasury, war and navy departments and the civil service commission. Attorney General Clark appointed A. Devitt Vanech as the justice department representative, who will be chairman.

Vanech, a native of Stamford, Conn., has been a special assistant to the attorney general since 1933.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), who will be top Democrat on the un-American activities committee, said the group would welcome cooperation from the President's commission. He called creation of the commission "a step in the right direction."

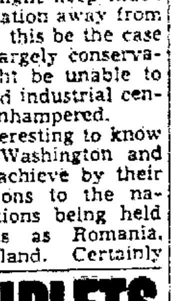
Mackenzie Takes Dim View of U. S. Voting Protests

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst



DewittMackenzie

"Disturbing reports" which Washington has heard about the projected Polish national election for January has impelled the U. S. state department to advise Warsaw once more that it expects equal rights and facilities to be accorded all democratic and anti-Nazi parties.

The American note expressed surprise that the election hasn't been carried out this year, in accordance with the Big Three agreement at Potsdam in 1945 for the holding of an election as soon as possible. This communication comes on top of last week's Romanian election which was regarded with concern by both Washington and London. There was a heavy Communist majority, and acting U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson said that there was no free and unfettered election as Romania had promised.

Some diplomatic experts in Washington have commented that the forthcoming election in Poland will be the first held in that country in mid-winter—a period which ordinarily produces such severe weather that it might keep much of the rural population away from the polls. Should this be the case in January, the largely conservative peasant might be unable to vote while the Red industrial centers would be unhampered.

It would be interesting to know just how much Washington and London hope to achieve by their persistent objections to the nature of the elections being held in such countries as Romania, Bulgaria and Poland. Certainly one would expect them to keep reiterating the principles agreed to by the Big Three, but as a matter of cold fact such protests have been, and so far as one can see will continue to be, as unproductive as halloing down a rain-barrel.

Nothing in Common

The toughest truth which the world faces at this moment is that there is nothing in common politically, economically or socially between Russian Communism and western democracy. All the quarrels which have been disrupting the Allied conferences and the deliberations of the United Nations revolve about that truth. If it weren't for this one difference there could be harmony and there would be no speculation about whether a Third World War must be fought.

But to get back to our muttons—Poland and the Balkans. All of eastern Europe, the Balkans and central Europe up to the western frontier of Poland has been logged down in Moscow's books as falling definitely and irrevocably within the Russian zone of influence. Greece still is outside the fold, but Communism is after it, and Austria also is a state which the Soviet Union feels belongs within her new political empire.

One-Party System

It would, of course, be wishful thinking to believe that elections in that big area wouldn't be patterned after the Russian system. That is a one-party system, and the one party is Communist. To be sure some of the elections have had more than the one party, but the conduct of those elections has been challenged by non-Communists who declared that they were deprived of their votes by one scheme or another. Several parties besides the Communists went to the polls in Romania last week, but most of them were Communist under other names. Opponents of Communism charged that irregularities deprived them of their ballots.

That's the way things have been, and it's likely to be the way they will continue to be. That part of Europe is in the Soviet fold, and the only question is how much further the Red tide will run.

FATHER PROTESTS AS BOY, 15, IS PADDLED

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26—The paddling of a 15-year-old school student today brought an irate protest from the boy's father.

In a letter to the Cleveland board of education, Wendell M. Ringholz, regional director of the CIO United Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers of America, said his son Edward, and seven other boys were paddled in school for cutting classes to see a football game last Tuesday.

Declaring the boy was afraid to return to classes the next day, Ringholz said:

"I was of the opinion that the whipping post had been relegated to the Dark Ages, but I find it the accepted practice at the school."

Michael J. Eck, principal of Thomas A. Edison occupational school, said the boy had been in his office "many times for infraction of the rules" and was given a choice of taking the paddling or having his father called to school.

"We gave him his choice and he took the paddling," the principal added. "He got into more trouble immediately after this and his father was called in."

Hickok Oil Co. Men Meeting Here Today

Approximately 18 representatives of the Marysville and Marion division of the Hickok Oil Corp. of Toledo were meeting in Hotel Harding today to discuss sales promotion activities. The meeting opened yesterday and will continue through tomorrow.

Similar sessions for the Marion and Marysville divisions will be held next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The sessions, which are under the direction of Harold Moore, sales promotion representative of Toledo, include refresher training for distributors in this area.

Big Bill Tilden Held On Delinquency Count

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26—Tennis Player William T. (Big Bill) Tilden, 53, today faced a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The complaint was issued yesterday by deputy District Attorney Herbert Grossman. Tilden was released on $500 bond pending a hearing today before Superior Judge E. A. Scott.

Tilden was arrested Sunday with a 14-year-old boy in his automobile.

MARYSVILLE RITES SET

MARYSVILLE — Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon for Mrs. Merrill McKittrick, 58, who died Sunday afternoon in White Cross hospital of a heart attack following a short illness. She is survived by her husband and two sons, Mark of Columbus, and Dale at home.

Steel is your best Bargain

STEEL is used in making most of the things you buy—from paper clips to automobiles and refrigerators.

Higher labor and other costs have pushed up the price of almost everything you buy. But steel has gone up much less than most other products.

Since 1939 steel prices have risen less than 18 per cent,* compared with 44 per cent* for consumers' prices generally.

At an average price of only three cents a pound, steel is the lowest priced of all the metals.

Appeasement Doesn't Work

THE government could have bought off John L. Lewis by giving him what he demanded. It refused. Appeasement doesn't work any better in collective bargaining than it does in international relations.

There was no guarantee that Mr. Lewis would stay appeased. The government, having settled the last strike he called by giving him terms more generous than the mining industry could afford, did not feel justified in going still further at the industry's ultimate expense. The government does not own the mines; it is operating them temporarily under a wartime seizure order.

Ultimately, Mr. Lewis must deal with the owners of the mines on a basis of what they can pay on a competitive basis. It was obvious to Secretary of Interior Krug and President Truman that Mr. Lewis hoped to panic the government into further appeasement before the mines were given back to their owners. He rejected the government's counter-proposal for him to negotiate with the owners instead. He wanted to assert his power over the government.

The official decision to call a showdown on his tactics is an extremely serious thing. It is going to bring a sharp cleavage of loyalties. It already has produced a stoppage of coal production, which in itself will become pressure for appeasement as stockpiles dwindle and the nation drifts into a coal famine. The public will divide into factions—those who demand further appeasement of Mr. Lewis as a symbol of arbitrary power versus those who demand an end of appeasement and a definitive settlement of his assumed right to dictate terms to the government of the United States. In the offing there is even the possibility of a general strike, the worst conceivable thing that could happen.

To avert it, someone must back down. The government of the United States cannot back down, or it will cease to be a government.

Machine Voting

THE critical importance of Cleveland's Democratic machine vote in state elections is attested by the Cuyahoga county board of elections' final tabulations.

Democratic strategy called for a Cuyahoga county majority for Governor Lausche large enough to wipe out his anticipated deficit in the rest of the state. In 1944, Mr. Lausche, running on a ticket headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, needed his 192,156 Cuyahoga county majority to beat James Garfield Stewart, who ran ahead of him in the rest of the state.

Since Governor Lausche's race was the only statewide contest that Ohio Democrats hoped to win this year, they realized early in the game that the thing they had most to fear was straight-ticket voting by Republicans, many of whom had scratched their tickets in Mr. Lausche's favor in 1944. Most of all, they feared straight-ticket voting in Cuyahoga county itself. The final tabulations prove their misgivings were well-founded.

Mr. Lausche ran up a majority of only 58,000 votes in Cuyahoga county this year, which was not enough to wipe out his deficit elsewhere in Ohio. He lost because in his home county, while 71,051 Democrats in the city of Cleveland voted straight tickets, as against 62,317 Republicans, only 24,652 Democrats in the rest of the county voted straight tickets as against 61,318 Republicans. Mr. Lausche's net deficit was 38,000. The outcome was an object lesson in practical politics.

City political machine voting as developed by the Democratic party had reached a point of perfection which made it seem unbeatable in Cleveland, New York, Philadelohia, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Boston. It was the key to party power in many important states—and still is. But it no longer is unbeatable. It can be licked any time that voters outside the machine strongholds are willing to fight fire with fire; i.e., to vote straight tickets, which is the secret of the success of all political machines.

Invention of a paper bag that acquires extra durability after it becomes wet has arrived about 20 or 25 years late. It would have been an especially useful bit of equipment in the prohibition era.

Shed No Tears Department—John L. Lewis is reported to have only one-month's supply of coal.

Bing Crosby's horses may not be the best but they could hardly be as terrible as the gags aimed at them by radio comedians.

Speed of modern transportation and communication has made all nations neighbors and in so doing has changed neighborhood quarrels to a worldwide activity.

Possibly the next congress may not be able to do all it plans in the way of tax reduction, but there will at least be considerable satisfaction and comfort for the public in knowing that the aim is to do something for the nation's taxpayers instead of Washington's tax-spenders.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Logic Virtually Absent in Coal Propaganda.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—More clinkers than carbon were produced in the coal propaganda dispute which practically obliterated logic. Before the courts acted the tip was spread, for instance, that John Lewis was on sound legal ground and the government could not defeat him. On this or other assumptions, other unions threw forward supports for Lewis as if the power of the whole union movement was involved. This accelerated the flying of clinkers, not wholly unmixed with coal gas, in what seemed to be a legal melee.

The obliterated truth behind the matter was simply this: The contract forced upon the government last May by John Lewis specifically provided it "covers for the period of government possession" of the mines, which are still in possession. Anyone knows if either party can terminate a contract at will, you have no contract. But the May 29 bituminous coal agreement between Lewis and the government was specific even to providing for the settlement of disputes. It said upon petition of the miners for adjustment of grievances, the government will direct the mine operators to put in effect the prevailing grievance procedure in the industry.

Substantial Gains

This is the agreement of less than six months ago, by which the miners won an 18½ cent per hour wage increase ($1.85 a day), a welfare fund tax of 5 cents a ton on coal, and practically everything else they wanted — after a strike which lost the country 90 million tons and an estimated 18 million tons of steel. Lewis then said at the White House when he signed the agreement: "This settles for the period of government operation of the mines, all questions and issues."

What other people then said was that Lewis had forced the government to take over the mines in order to win extreme demands at the opening of a hot congressional campaign. The operators were not even consulted by the government, although they still own the properties. Everything went as Lewis asked.

Now Lewis terminated his own agreement which had no provision for termination. He did so under an obscure construction of paragraph one which provided the terms of his old previous agreement with the operators would continue in effect, except as changed by the contract with the government. This old agreement provided for ten days' notice of negotiation for discontinuance. In other words, he dug back into an obsolete agreement with the operators for justification to discontinue an agreement with the government which was supposed to provide operation during the period of government posession.

Different Situation

In doing this Lewis was no longer dealing with the operators whom he had been pushing around for nine previous years. His contract was one which he had forced on his own government and the non-legal question seemed to be whether Lewis was trying to establish the right to push the government around as he had the operators. No great moral issue was raised by Lewis. He mentioned only long working hours in some mines in his complaint, but did not reveal his demands. His group also wanted to collect its tax on dirt washed out of the coal. But the only popular question involved thus seemed to be whether Lewis was bigger than the government, terminating his own contracts at will, dictating terms, ignoring the Smith-Connally ban on strikes, etc.

The other clinkers widely distributed imply Lewis did not call a strike but only terminated the contract so it could happen. A walkout without a contract is supposed to be a tradition in the mines. Lewis had another tradition advertised formerly, namely that he never broke a contract. Well, he certainly broke this one, eliminating that tradition. Mere avoidance of responsibility for the strike is purely a technical subterfuge, as everyone knows he is responsible for it.

Why Lewis went to such extremes against the government just at this time, is not quite clear. He may have wanted another increase through cutting hours. He may have tired of government operation, but if he had any real grievance he kept it to himself. Possibly also, he read the newspapers and realized the election was going Republican and thought this would be a good time to strike against the Democratic administration. Whatever his motives, they have not yet been clearly developed.

At Least Unreasonable

Actually then, Lewis seemed to be in an unreasonable if not unjustifiable position. He was running away with the publicity by brandishing such phrases as the government "cannot mine coal with bayonets", which merely covered from public gaze his apparently desperate maneuver to get the mines back from the government, or some similarly undisclosed purpose—a maneuver in which he canceled the most favorable working contract he ever had, one which would never be accepted by the operators. Frankly, I suspect the other unions saw the desperateness of the Lewis plight and rushed to his assistance for that reason, because the issue did not really involve any other union right—and could involve no industry excepting one seized and operated by the government, (meaning practically none).

Politicians, Too, In The Large, Economy Size?

Among those elected to the Wisconsin State senate is a gent weighing 425 pounds.

Is this an answer to those editorials calling for office-holders of greater stature?

He'll carry a lot of weight, though not alone in political circles.

Even the opposition had to admit he's got what it takes to hold down a legislative seat.

As they say of Dewey: "He's got his eye upon the president's chair . . . but look what Truman's got upon it."

There's just one thing that worries me about this inflationary trend in legislators: Who's going to look after the little man?

The Real Financial Picture

By RAYMOND MOLEY

IN two previous columns it was suggested that Republican leaders in congress had better count their chickens before they promise deliveries. This applies especially to the claim that $3,000,000,000 can be saved by discharging federal employes. The best that could be expected from a careful and necessary pruning of the federal payroll would be about $1,000,000,000.

Representative John Taber, prospective house appropriations chairman, is on sounder but obvious ground when he points to certain non-recurring items, such as terminal leave payments and several other Army and Navy expenses. These amount to $4,500,000,000. Another billion is in subsidies, now unnecessary after the end of price control. A liberal total of the items above is $7,000,000,000.

Another item suggested by Mr. Taber is $1,500,000,000 scheduled for federal construction projects. Perhaps this can be saved by deferring proposed projects and slowing down construction affairs like the Pan-American highway. It is a principle recognized by everybody that government construction ought to be planned and made ready for a quick start when private business slackens and big unemployment starts. Such expenditures may and probably will not be necessary for a year or more.

8 Billion Deduction

By granting this claim of savings on unnecessary construction, we have enough savings to bring the budget down from the current figure of $41,000,000,000 to about $33,000,000,000.

The estimated income for the current year is $39,500,000,000. If present rates are maintained and if perchance people and corporations have the same income next year (June, 1947-July, 1948), these cuts would leave a margin of $6,500,000,000. This, theoretically, is what there is to cover a payment on the debt and to reduce tax rates. A general cut of 20 per cent on individual income taxes would amount to about $3,500,000,000. That would leave $3,000,000,000 for debt reduction which is a minimum to pay in a year of good business and inflated prices. It ought to be more, but it can hardly be expected that a political congress will pay more.

This is a speculative balanced budget. But it is highly speculative because there is no assurance that the taxable income will be as high in the next fiscal year as it is now.

Two Possible Courses

Prudent finance would suggest two courses for Republican leaders, other than those which have been suggested.

The first relates to taxes. Instead of a rash promise to reduce all individual income taxes by 20 per cent, there should be a careful study of the tax structure to eliminate inequities and to stimulate certain sectors of business activity. Such adjustments and cuts may as well be in corporate tax schedules as in individual rates. But the amount to be saved and the exact places for the cuts cannot be determined until Messrs. Harold Knutson and Robert Taft have done a lot of work with their committees. If, after they have made their investigation, they have some good news, they should, by all means, give it to a hard-pressed public. But not before.

On the spending side, there are several profitable lines for study. It ought to be clearly brought out why the sale of surplus war property has yielded such miserably disappointing returns.

The department of commerce has said that during the year after V-J Day, $5,000,000,000 worth of inventories of civilian industries have been bought by the armed services. Should that amount now included in military expenses, be a non-recurring item?

The Major Stem

Finally, the real gain among expenditures, the armed services, is $19,000,000,000. This depends on the course of diplomacy. If some measure of disarmament can be achieved, the financial picture can be bright indeed. That is up to Messrs. James Byrnes and M. Molotov.

West Can Win in Germany

By WALTER LIPPMANN

AS we approach Germany it is most important to realize that while we need Russian Foreign Minister Molotov's consent to complete a European settlement, we do not need his consent to make great progress towards a settlement.

In the satellite treaties, excepting the Italian, nothing could be done unless he agreed to it first; the countries were exclusively under Soviet occupation. But in Germany the position is wholly different; the most important things can be done without obtaining his consent.

The three western zones contain about 46,000,000 Germans as against some 18,000,000 in the Soviet zone. In fact the disparity in man power is greater. About two-thirds of the German population in the Soviet zone are women. And of Germany's prewar heavy industries at least three-quarters are in the western zones.

This is enough to determine the shape of the German settlement that is to say, the constitutional structure of the new Germany, and the character of the German economics.

In agreement with Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, and Denmark, we can reorganize enough of Germany, and therefore of Europe, so that in negotiating with Molotov we can offer him a choice. He can come in and participate in making the settlement general for all of Europe, or he can stay out, and devote himself to preventing the Poles, the Czechs, the Austrians, the Hungarians, and the Yugoslavs from sharing in the reconstruction of Europe.

In dealing with Germany, Molotov has no effective veto over what the western powers can do with the best part of Germany. He can only veto his own particpaton and the benefits of a German and a European reconstruction.

Initiative

We have the means to take the initiative, and to produce a mountain of accomplished facts. Only if we make the unnecessary mistake of trying to get his consent before we act, we will become bogged down as we have been the last year.

It would, for example, be absurd to ask him whether Belgium and The Netherlands may participate in the negotiations. We should negotiate with them before we ask his consent. Then we can proceed to shape a settlement which, as it develops, offers him inducements to consent, and no attractive alternative if he refuses.

The exploratory conversations which Gen. Clay has had with the Russians in Berlin show that they need the products of our zones more than we need the products of theirs.

To be sure, we have done most of the talking about the unification of Germany. But as we are able to unify the best three-quarters of Germany, it is the Russians who have the most to lose by isolating themselves in their zone. They have tried first to mine their zone by removing industrial machinery. That did not help them. Then they tried reviving production in their zone. The results have been quite insufficient.

If the Russians are to get the substantial reparations which they need so badly and to which they are unquestionably entitled, they must get them by agreement with the western Allies out of increased production in the western zones.

Therefore, in the bargaining out of which a German setlement can be developed, they will have to buy their participation if we have the foresight to see to it that we have something substantial to sell, and know clearly what price we can and should exact.

Thus at the outset we shall miss the boat if we take the position that the Russians can have reparations out of the current production of western Germany if they will agree to treat all of Germany as an economic unit under a provisional central German government, ad if they will accept Secretary of State Byrnes' 40-year treaty.

Matter of Sale

The economic unification of Germany, a central German government, a demilitarization treaty, are not things to be bought eagerly from Molotov. They are things to be sold to him reluctantly on carefully considered terms.

For if the terms are not such as to make secure the long-range vital interests of the western powers, the unification of Germany under a central government will be a monumental blunder. We shall have unified Germany for the Pan-Germans, who will inevitably make a deal with Moscow at the expense of Poland and against the west.

The right course is open to us, however, if only Byrnes and the Department of State will build their German policy upon the foundations which have been laid, with brilliant foresight, in the American zone.

The disheartening thing about Byrnes' Stuttgart speech was that it showed so little appreciation of the significance of the American achievement in giving the Germans a vested interest to keep Germany decentralized and federal. That, and not propaganda about democracy, is the true beginning of a change in the political habits of Germany.

The example and the pressure of the three German states in the American zone have begun to spread into the British zone. When the British zone has been reorganized into autonomous states, then—and then only—will it be safe or wise to establish a provisional central government.

It was Thursday, Nov. 26, 1936.

Marion suspended business generally for the annual observance of Thanksgiving day. Rev. J. A. Carriker, pastor of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church, preached the sermon at the union Thanksgiving Day services held at Calvary Evangelical church.

Mrs. Etta Mae Byrd, 52, of 842 Silver street, died in Jane Case hospital in Delaware after an illness of two weeks.

William Albright, 92, of Iberia was fatally injured when struck by an automobile.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce held a Thanksgiving Day dance at Schwinger's hall. Bob McMahan's played and John Schwinger was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Miss Hazel Seiter of the Mautz-Owens road and Doyle Baumgarter of 274 Clinton street were united in marriage in a ceremony read by Rev. F. M. Koepplin, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church.

Congressman Brooks Fletcher announced he would leave Marion for Washington within a few days to resume his duties in the capital.

Captain and Mrs. Rothwell Stickley were host and hostess as the Salvation Army entertained 125 children from less fortunate homes at a Thanksgiving dinner.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Nov. 26, 1926.

Arkansas, Missouri, Louisiana and Oklahoma counted 51 dead and 100 injured in the wake of tornadoes which swept over a large area of the south.

W. D. Jones, district inspector for the state prohibition department, declared liquor law violations in Marion were below the average of other similar localities in the state.

Plans were announced for a meeting the following Tuesday at which the Harding Area of Boy Scouts was to receive its charter from a representative of the national organization.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Auto-Telephone

THE automobile telephone is now a reality. You can phone between detour signs and get an answer while skidding.

It's a queer world. Just when the auto engineers, after a 40-year struggle had eliminated all the noises, science puts the wife in the rear seat by long distance.

We fail to sense the necessity for the auto telephone except in the case of doctors, plumbers and grocers who got on the wrong road with the eggs. But it is now available to any autoist who can stand one more gadget and who doesn't think he has troubles enough getting from accident to accident without answering the phone.

If you think the joys of transportation are increased by a chance to argue with the complaint operator, with one fender gone and the other so close that it sounds like a party wire the morning after a local scandal, a auto phone is yours for the asking.

The new auto to auto, house to auto, auto to house and nervous collapse to nervous collapse telephone was demonstrated in many cities the other day. Not a subscriber was badly injured. But there were several cases where the party on the motorized end of the line started the conversation in four lane traffic, warmed up to the subject over the white line and finished the chat up a telegraph pole with a tire to his ear instead of a telephone.

* * *

The effect on auto accidents will be watched with apprehension. Safety drives will have to be needled up 100 per cent unless we are to see a flood of accident reports, viz:

Car N Y 810, Phone Worth-4567, ran off viaduct at 6 a. m. Driver tried to drive between a fast moving beer truck and a slow moving hello girl.

Beach wagon, auto number gone and phone number too damaged for identification, found wrapped around tree on Route 80. Driver tried to answer two phone calls at once and stuck cigar lighter into ear instead of telephone receiver.

Flivver found wrecked over embankment. Driver, a pay station addict, put in a call, didn't get it and took hands of wheel in effort to get his nickel back.

We asked Gerry Woolson, our favorite telephone authority, what was the idea behind a phone in a motor car and he insisted it was a boon to business and a tribute to engineering. But Gerry is so well poised that he would never lose his head while negotiating a sharp curve and a voice asked: "Is this Spiegel's grocery?" Unlike us he would be cool enough to get around the curve before tearing his hair and answering "No, and that's the third wrong call on this line in less than seven miles."

Personally we are still fearsome of the auto phone. In the first place we always pack the flivver sloppily and would be sure to reach for the phone book and find it in the egg salad wedged between the fishing bait, the dog and the suitcase.

Also we dread our conversation going dry because we forgot to take our voice in to be lubricated every 200 miles.

There is a threat of a strike by radio performers. This would mean that you would get the wonderful entertainment of tuning in on the radio and not getting what radio calls wonderful entertainment.

What we want to know is this: if the radio performers strikes, will the jingle makers promise to go out in sympathy?

Unions at the Ford plant have won the right to decide whether a plant or department is healthy. If this right is generally conceded, what hope is there for thousands of business establishments which at the moment look so sick?

It seems to us too bad that William Gillette is not around to have won the head in "The Razor's Edge." Incidentally Ima Dodo says she saw "The Razor's Edge" on the legitimate stage where it was known as "Becky Sharp."

President Truman went to a football game Saturday. He wanted to see somebody else jumped on for a change.

From 65 Miles Up

By TRUMAN TWILL

We have put away the picture of the earth taken from 65 miles up in the air for future reference.

This is the most useful thing the experimenters have done with captured German rockets, as far as we are concerned—this privilege of seeing where we live. The camera's height is immaterial. Twenty-five miles would have done as well.

The point is, that in a few seconds it now is possible to get far enough from the earth to look at it in cosmic perspective. Ultimately, men themselves may get up there to see what the camera has recorded. Stratosphere balloonists and high-altitude aviators already have had this privilege. It left them sobered.

Up there, where the earth ceases to be an abstraction and begins to appear as a sphere, there are no details. The infinitesimally small blobs that are human beings are invisible and so are all the things human beings point to with pride and shame.

Their cities, highways and cultivated patches disappear. All living things on the earth's surface, if collected in one spot, would be no more than a stain, viewed from upstairs. As Van Loon once said, all human beings could be stuffed in a box less than a mile square and dumped into the Grand Canyon, leaving the earth untenanted, with no sign of tenants' departure.

The Psalmist, who never had seen a picture of his planet and didn't know what it was like, put it even better when he wrote: "A thousand years in Thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night. . . . The wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more."

. . . And the rockets of the warriors shall reach their zenith and plunge earthward, destroying what is encompassed in the target area as a man destroys what lies invisible beneath his feet, unknowingly of the life it cannot see nor share. . . .

It may never be practical to induce humility by sending all of us aloft to look at our planet in perspective, but don't bet against it. Thousands already have gone high enough to look back and be struck dumb by the thought they can see nothing man has done, and thousands more will go higher before another yesterday is past.

They will go where national boundaries, mountain and river barriers, differences between races, religions and cultures all blend into the even brownness of a sphere turning lazily in infinity—and when they come back they will be wiser.

In the meantime we'll look at the picture of the earth from 65 miles up occasionally as a reminder that the crawlings and writhings on its surface don't matter—not even when men produce rockets to obliterate one another. Where the rocket falls and explodes there will be no visible mark, nothing but a vast silence where before there was a faint hum of life.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Nervous Upset

The human spirit is guided by a strange complex of conflicting desires. All normal people have ambitions In each of us there are certain drives pushing us on to attainment. We want, and need, a certain amount of material achievement, the good opinion of our fellows and the approval of our inner selves.

All of these things are good but they require effort — sometimes heroic effort. And, unfortunately, along with our urge to succeed there goes, as if in double harness, an equally strong impulse to avoid effort and strain.

Some people learn to overcome this desire for ease Others do not and thus an inescapable conflict is set up within them Wanting success, they are still unwilling to pay its price. Instead of facing their problems squarely, they resort to anxieties, tantrums and imaginary ailments either to get out of doing something they don't want to do or to cover up, even from themselves, their basic failure.

Frequently patients who are occupied in industries become nervous According to Dr Frederick W Dershimer of New York, it is not a good idea to tell a nervous patient to take time off from his job In fact he has found that such a person often can be treated better and quicker results obtained if he is kept at work However, it is most important that everything possible be done to keep these emotional illnesses from developing In order to do this Dr Samuel N Clark of Jacksonville, Ill., says that attention should be paid to physical health, that outlets be given for emotions and abilities. The right sort of daily schedule shold be set up which will include the right amount of work, exercise, companionship, recreation, rest and sleep.

If a person is faced with a difficult task which he does not think is worth doing or if a situation arises that he is unable to face he is likely to develop the symptoms of a so-called nervous breakdown But, if everyone has practice in self-discipline and can think clearly about his problems, he can develop a sane outlook and overcome the mental difficulty.

Of course, persons who develop these types of nervous disorders are in need of help A physician trained in psychiatry is best equipped to give them the necessary aid in making proper adjustments But sound training of children will do much to keep these nervous disorders from ever developing when the children grow up Perhaps the main thing is to teach independence, to teach the children that they must face their problems bravely and with courage

Ohioan To Eat Turkey At "Home"—in Jail

By The Associated Press

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Nov 25—Onno Wilson, 39, was back in jail today—his 47th time in Pickaway county—and there was every possibility he won't eat Thanksgiving dinner [illegible] recently.

The man was arrested on an intoxication charge just 30 hours after being released from jail Prior to his release the sheriff had said he expected him back in time for Thanksgiving dinner

The [illegible] who arrested Wilson for his latest escapade said he not only had entered the wrong house but had crawled into bed and refused to leave when Fred Stevens, the owner, returned home.

Wilson's police record extends over 16 years the sheriff said

Social Affairs

MEMBERS of the El Dorado club were joined by guests for a program and social hour last evening at Ringer's inn. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. William Stonebraker, Mrs Emma Duerr and Miss Betty Smith. Miss Mary Katherine Smith, president, presided for a short business session and welcomed the guests who were later introduced by the members in response to roll call. For the program hour Mrs Rual B Conyers presented Miss Isabelle Freer who gave an entertaining review of Margaret Barnes' novel, "My Lady of Cleves."

For the social hour Mrs. Clarence W. Weber, president of Central District, Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. T. H. Sutherland, president of the Marion Federation of Women's Clubs, presided at the table which was lighted with tapers and held a centerpiece of fruit in a Thanksgiving theme. Guest favors were nosegays of yellow baby mums caught with gay ribbon bows.

Guests included Mrs Weber, Mrs. Sutherland, Miss Freer, Mrs. O. G McGlone of Caledonia, Mrs L. E. Girard, Mrs. Harvey T. Gracely, Mrs. Aimie Conyers, Mrs Paul Young, Mrs. John Turner, Mrs Richard Taylor, Mrs Donald Bair, Mrs. Lewis Wills, Misses Virginia Mahoney, Esther Williamson, Clara Alice Wilson Anna Jean Walter, Barbara Axe, Mary Ernestine Smith, Louise Gracely, Elizabeth Gray, Anne Goyer and Edna S Dutton.

MISS VIRGINIA MATHIOT'S spinster party was given last evening by Mrs Patricia Lawler who entertained with dinner and bridge at her home at 558 South Vine street. Places were marked with pictures highlighting the life of the honor guest from infancy to her wedding, to which were attached original verses. After dinner bridge was played, awards going to Mrs. James C. Woods Jr. and Miss Betty Hawkins. Miss Mathiot will become the bride of Howard H. Diehl Wednesday.

Mrs Pauline Keeton entertained members of the Monte Carlo Pinochle club Friday evening with a rabbit and pheasant supper at her home on Davids street. The evening was spent in playing cards with honors going to Mrs. Jerry Snyder, Mrs. Lottie Hull, Mrs. Evelyn Campbell and Miss Joyce Bently. Guests were Miss Bently, Mrs. Snyder and Mrs Virginia Sandquist. The next meeting will be with Mrs Rosemary Lawson on East Center street.

Mrs Robert Gibson was hostess to the A S D. Euchre club Thursday evening at her home on East Church street. She was assisted by Mrs Eugene Hilborn. High honors in cards went to Mrs Louise Narance, Miss Betty Miers, and Miss Martha Lee.

At a meeting of the Child Research club Dec. 5, the topic will be "A Correct Shoe Fitting," it was announced. The meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Karl Barkley on Uncapher avenue, and Mrs E. J. Carey will present the topic. A Christmas exchange will be held Dec. 19 instead of Dec. 5 as reported previously.

Mr and Mrs Roy P Shonk of 365 East Fairground street had as dinner guests Sunday Miss Elsie Gregg of Magnetic Springs, Richard January of near Cardington, and Mr and Mrs. Ora L Cramer, Virgil Cramer and V. M Street, all of Marion.

Mrs. Nettie Underwood of 339 South Grand avenue entertained with a dinner Sunday at her home for a number of relatives. Those present were Mr. and Mrs Richard Cox of Caledonia, son-in-law and daughter of Mrs Underwood, Leonard Barnes of Somerset, Ky., and Miss Leonora Brownlee and Mr. and Mrs Robert Lee Brownlee, all of Marion.

Mr. and Mrs K P McAdams of 458 Olney avenue entertained the Euchateers club Saturday evening in their home. High awards in euchre went to Mrs Paul Drake and Ernest Farst, with consolation won by Mrs. Carl Matson and P. C. Kyle. Mrs. Drake won the lone hand award. A. M. Seckel was a guest. Dec. 21, a Christmas party will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs Matson at 683 Woodrow avenue.

Miss Lucile Arndt of Galion, a bride-elect of Dec. 1, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower when Miss Ruth Gundrum entertained Thursday evening at the Greenwood Inn. Miss Arndt, formerly of Marion, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Arndt of Galion. Her marriage to William S. Wareham of Shelby will take place Sunday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the Church of Christ in Galion.

The evening was spent socially in guessing contests with prizes awarded to Mrs D W. Shutt of Tiffin, Miss Mary Jane Augenstein and Miss Christine Rieck of Marion. The honored guest was directed to her gifts by an original poem, and her chosen colors of yellow and white were carried out in the table appointments when refreshments were served.

Guests present with those named above were Mrs Forest Blocker of Bluffton, Ind., Mrs F E Arndt, Mrs. Harold Dukeman, Miss Aliene Arndt, Misses Marybelle and Margaret Swick, and Mrs Silas Gundrum, all of Galion, and Miss Rose Moloney and Miss Barbara Severns of Marion.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Canton Builder Sued For Incomplete Work

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., Nov 26—Morris Bluestone, Canton builder of low-cost homes, was charged today with failing to complete a dwelling sold a Massillon war veteran.

Fred Sharpe, in a $3,395 suit filed in common pleas court, said the builder had agreed to furnish a pump, put in tile to carry away rain water and to varnish floors.

Bluestone, however, failed to do any of the work, Sharpe asserted in the action filed yesterday. He said he bought the home for $6,100.

CHECK AND DOUBLE CHECK

By The Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 26—The First National Bank was combing through its records of the past 53 years trying to find out what happened to $1,000 belonging to one E. C. Cutler. The search started after I. C. McManis, a custodian at Kansas State college in Manhatten, Kans., found an uncashed check. The date on it was Oct. 25, 1893, and it was signed by Cutler.

Adventist Members To Aid Famine Fund

Plans are being made by the Seventh Day Adventist congregation here to join with 3,500 other congregations of the denomination in North America in collecting a half million dollars more for famine relief in services Saturday, Dec 21.

According to the local pastor, H. G. Gauker, who reported to the congregation here on the annual Autumn Council of the church held recently at Grand Rapids, Mich., the denomination has spent $767,000 on food and has shipped more than 600 tons of clothing into war-torn areas. Offerings given by Adventist members throughout the world during 1945 amounted to $31,540,935, a gain of $2,855,501 over the previous year, the report revealed.

At the annual meeting, church leaders from Europe and the far east, 600 delegates representing North America and foreign countries, made plans "for meeting unprecedented needs and calls for spiritual guidance, expansion of the denomination's medical and educational work, and a new and fervent emphasis on evangelism, enlisting the efforts of every minister and lay member," the report stated.

CHILD CLINIC PLANNED

By The Associated Press

BARBERTON O., Nov. 26—Plans were underway today for establishment of a children's clinic in the city's proposed new Citizens hospital as a memorial to the late C. W. Sieberling, pioneer in the rubber industry. Seiberling, who died Sept. 20, had been a director of the present Citizens hospital for 25 years.

Mysterious Tattoo Only Clue To Dead Ohioan's Identity

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26 — A cryptic forearm tattoo today still stumped the coroner's office and police as they sought the identity of a man about 65 years old who collapsed and died here Saturday aboard a street car.

The tattoo as it appears:

KJKIRNXS
2ER-KOMP
BAAA
AHNEP
1909

Deputies of Coroner Herbert P Lyle said at first they believed the markings constituted a cryptogram but were inclined to discredit the theory after receiving several calls from stumped puzzle fans.

One caller was emphatic "It is not a crytogram at all," he said, "but appears to be a combination of Russian and Serbian alphabetic letters."

County morgue attaches said the partly bald, dark-complexioned man appeared to be of Slavic extraction. He was five feet, 10 inches tall and weighed 150 pounds.

Coroner said the only encouraging inquiry came from an Anchorage Ky., woman who telephoned she believed the man may have been a relative and would come here to look at the body. The woman did not give her name, he said.

Motorcycle Club Holds Closed Turkey Event

The Triangle Motorcycle club of Marion, held a closed club turkey run Sunday. It started from the club house at 1 p. m. with 11 riders starting and every one finishing with a little mud on them. Sonny Copeland, expert TT racer, came in first with 3 points off, and Glen Dane Jr. came in in second place with 4 points off, Bud Messenger came in third place with 5 points off. The last rider was in at the club house at 5 p. m. and there was a good hot supper ready to serve.

The next monthly meeting of the Triangle Hecklers will be held at the home of Mrs. Virginia Taylor on Dec. 13.

Mrs. Kaplanoff Dies At Home in Bucyrus

BUCYRUS, Nov. 26 — Funeral services were held this afternoon at the Munz funeral home for Mrs. Katherine Kaplanoff, 78, native of Macedonia, Greece, who died at her home here Sunday.

Mrs Kaplanoff came to America 34 years ago. Her only son, George, preceded her in death. Survivors include four grandchildren.

Interment was made in Oakwood cemetery with the Rev. George Gogoutas of Mansfield Greek Orthodox church of Mansfield, of which the deceased was a member, officiating.

Second nomination of officers was held at a meeting of Kosciusko Lodge, I. O. O. F., last night at the lodge hall. Election will be held at the first meeting in December and installation will take place in January, it was announced.

The degree staff of Kosciusko lodge will confer the initiatory degree tonight for the I. O. O. F. at Green Camp, on invitation of the Green Camp lodge, and will meet at the Kosciusko lodge rooms at 7:30, it was announced. An invitation from Mizpah Encampment, I. O. O. F., was accepted to attend that lodge's annual fish fry Dec. 3 in the Kosciusko lodge rooms. At that time, W. G. Collins of Lebanon, head of the Encampment of Ohio, will be present.

Guest speaker was E. N. Hale who gave a talk on one of his hobbies, collecting information on the presidents, and his subject was "The Human Side of the Presidents," in which he pointed out the characteristic traits of the men from George Washington to President Truman, and described their various experiences in both private life and public office.

SEEK CLEVELANDERS IN LABOR WAR FIGHT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26—Lorain county police today sought an undisclosed number of persons in Cleveland who were reported named in secret indictments returned by a Lorain grand jury investigating the beating of five non-union workers near Elyria Oct. 3.

Lorain County Prosecutor William G. Wickens said he would not disclose the identity of those indicted until they were apprehended.

Previously, Clarence Ebersole, 43, of Parma, an organizer for the AFL Operating Engineers union had been charged in connection with the case.

He was charged with inciting a riot, malicious destruction of property and assault to maim.

The men were engaged in laying a gas line at the time of the assault. Machinery with which they were working also was destroyed.

The grand jury completed its investigation of the case yesterday.

Girl Persists in Claim She Drowned Cripple

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 26—Frances Wanstreet, 17, who had insisted to police for the past 10 days that she pushed crippled Ross Key Jr., into Blue river, signed a statement yesterday reiterating her story after the boy's body finally was found, Police Lt. Charles Welch reported.

Parents of both children previously had said they doubted the girl's story but, police reported, she maintained she shoved the boy into the river because he teased her. Police quoted her as saying the eight-year-old key boy, crippled by infantile paralysis, had killed her pet dog and thrown stones into a laundry basket containing clean clothes.

No charges were filed against her.

It is a quart of milk.

Milk, according to figures for a moderate cost adequate diet recommended by the U. S. Bureau of Home Economics, supplies 43% of the nutrients of the weekly food order. But it takes only 25% of the weekly food bill!

No matter what foods you may buy, or what your family food budget, on nutritive value per dollar of expenditure, milk will still be one of your biggest food bargains.

And with all this economy, milk is today surrounded by health-protective safeguards unknown a generation ago!

One of the extra safeguards this dairy uses is the Sealright Sealon Hood. Sealed on the bottle at 500 degrees F., this paper closure provides water-proof, tamper-proof protection of the pouring lip of our bottle. It keeps it safe from contact with hands or other exposure all the way from our dairy to you. And that is important—because every drop of milk in the bottle must pass over that pouring lip.

Sauerkraut To Make Appearance Regularly

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26—From now on, sauerkraut can appear on family menus with normal regularity, says the National Kraut Packers association.

Fermenting in packers' vats is the shredded cabbage harvested this year from 20,000 acres. Roy Irons of Clyde, O., secretary-treasurer of the association, said he felt sure "there would be enough to go around." During the war much of the pack was sold to the armed forces and relief agencies

The association opened its fall meeting here today. Major kraut packing areas are in Ohio, New York, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

plans," The Associated Press reported

Cleveland Complies

Cleveland's Mayor Thomas A Burke announced compliance with the dimout regulations but said the city probably would have its traditional Christmas tree in the public square.

At Cincinnati, virtually all downtown business places were darkened and police orders were issued to enforce blackout directives.

Dayton likewise conformed as did Newark where Mayor James E. Neighbor ordered a dimout for the duration of the coal stoppage

Federal fuel conservation regulations were directed against use of electricity for outdoor and indoor advertising, show window or show case lighting, theater marquee illumination in excess of 60 watts for each marquee and unnecessary white way lighting

The Cleveland board of education prohibited all after dark school activities beginning at 4 p m today with the exception of night classes.

Akron Has Similar Order

A corresponding order came from the Akron school board which ordered heat turned off in school structures when classes were not in session, effective next Monday.

The coal shortage began to affect Ohio industries Youngstown Sheet and Tube reported only two of its nine blast furnaces and eight of 24 open hearths in operation None of the steel company's Bessemer converters was going Area steel output was down 50 per cent and industry spokesmen predicted 10,000 persons would be paid off.

Republic Steel Corp at Cleveland closed three of its five blast furnaces and operated at 65 per cent capacity.

Cincinnati Suffers Little

Cincinnati suffered few cutbacks with unemployment reported only by seven railroads which cancelled 21 trains serving the greater Cincinnati area. The Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. said it had a 30-day coal supply, but nevertheless imposed economy measures.

Few cutbacks were reported at Dayton. However, Delco Corp of General Motors announced a shutdown between Wednesday and Monday Normally, it would resume work Friday after Thanksgiving Day.

At Toledo, the City Auto Stamping Co. and the closure division of Owens Illinois Glass Co announced they would remain closed until Monday following the Thanksgiving holiday.

The stamping concern said the coal shortage would force 650 employes out of work The closure plant will lay off 234, an official said, because of a shortage of molding compounds occasioned by a dearth of coal.

Warren C. of C. Protests Dimout

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 26 — Gov. Lausche made public today a protest from the Warren Chamber of Commerce against a brownout of display lighting during the coal mine shutdown.

The chamber suggested that the closing of schools would be far more effective as a coal saving measure.

The governor offered no comment on the telegram which read:

"Retail merchants division of Warren Chamber of Commerce questions the brown-out order with respect to elimination of display lighting. The amount of coal conserved by this order is infinitesimal when compared with possible savings through the closing of schools, for example.

"This order may materially injure retail merchants generally and will certainly have an effect on curtailing Christmas spirit. We encourage the rescinding of this order as quickly as possible."

The telegram was signed by A H. Brent, executive secretary of the chamber's retail merchants division.

Anglo-Egyptian Parley Broken Off by King

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, EGYPT, Nov. 26—King Farouk dissolved the Egyptian delegation negotiating a revision of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty today on this third day of anti-British and anti-government disorders.

Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha had brought back from London proposals for revising the treaty and debate was to have started in parliament tonight The monarch issued a royal decree ending the service of the delegation appointed last March 3, saying the mission of the delegation "has become without object."

The demonstrations, mainly by students, continued despite a government pronouncement stating that "no leniency" would be shown in maintaining order.

$200,000 DAMAGES ASKED BY WORKER

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J., Nov 26—Miss Dorothy L. Burns, 30-year-old employe at the Westinghouse Corp. Bloomfield plant, seeks $200,000 damages for injuries she claims to have suffered in secret atomic research at the plant.

In the complaint, filed in general court yesterday, Miss Burns said uranium and other radioactive materials were "absorbed, inhaled, ingested or introduced" into her body, causing injuries not covered by the state workmen's compensation act.

She asks $100,000 damages for injuries and ailments allegedly received while an employe, and an additional $100,000 on grounds that the corporation failed to warn of "dangers then and there existing" and failed to provide reasonably effective devices, means and methods" to prevent such injuries.

The corporation declined comment.

Cleveland Car Service Cut Seen by Christmas

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26—A 50 per cent slash in street car and trackless trolley service at the height of the Christmas shopping rush will result if the coal strike is prolonged, Walter J. Carter, general manager of the city transit system, announced today.

The cut in service will occur about Dec. 7 if government coal conservation orders still are in effect then, McCarter said.

LAND ON HIGHWAY, TWO FLIERS INJURED

Norwalk Men in Hospital After Plane Hits Truck.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Nov. 26 — Two Norwalk men were injured yesterday at 3 p. m. when they attempted to land their light plane on Route 42, eight miles north of here, and skidded into a parked semi-trailer truck.

They are Wade D. Young, 21, the pilot; and Melvin Shipley, 29. They are in Mansfield General hospital suffering from lacerations about the head and arms. The right wing and motor of the 1946 Piper Cub were damaged. The truck, from Akron, was not damaged. There was no one in it.

The plane had landed in a nearby field in a heavy fog on orders from the Mansfield airport. It attracted a large crowd, the state patrol reported, and the fliers did not wish to leave it in the isolated field without guard. They took off again, planning on landing on nearby Route 42 and leave the plane near the Pines restaurant, where it could be watched. The plane went out of control as it landed, however, and ran into the truck, parked in the driveway of the Pines.

The rented plane was on a flight out of Norwalk airport and it was presumed the fliers were attempting to return there.

It was the second airplane accident within 24 hours in this area William Mann of Delaware escaped injury Sunday afternoon when his plane fell 100 feet while taking off at Richwood airport.

SEE BYRNES, MOLOTOV TALK CLEARING AIR

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—Diplomats expressed hope today that a private conference between Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and Secretary of State Byrnes had paved the way for a speedy windup of five European peace treaties and an agreement to begin work on a final German settlement.

It was authoritatively reported only that the secret talk between the two yesterday afternoon had covered the work of the Big Four foreign ministers conference here No concrete results were disclosed.

However, a Big Four session last night produced more agreement than any other recent meeting on the Trieste section of the Italian treaty. The agreement came when Russia dropped her objection to empowering the governor of the projected international territory of Trieste to deal forcefully with internal disorders.

Molotov had been withholding his approval of such a treaty provision as a bargaining point to try to obtain from Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Deputy Foreign Minister Couve de Murville a fixed deadline for the withdrawal of Allied troops from the Trieste territory.

Once over the Trieste hurdle, they are expected to clean up the Italian treaty quickly and move on to final drafts of the treaties for Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland. At some point not yet decided they are also scheduled to take up the German question.

Byrnes and Molotov met for an hour and 15 minutes. It was their first private huddle to talk business since before the Paris peace conference. The meeting was held at Molotov's request.

Ohioan Sentenced In Manslaughter Case

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., Nov. 26—Elmer A. Barnes, 47, today faced one to 20 years in Ohio penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to first degree manslaughter in the shotgun slaying of Doit Roush, 56, last Sept. 14.

Barnes, who was sentenced yesterday, was a roomer at the home of Mrs. Laura Raye, a widow, and the state contended he shot Roush when he came to call on Mrs. Raye. Jealously was said to have been the motive. Mrs. Raye committed suicide several days after the shooting.

Successful Vaccine Against Mumps Found

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—The United States public health service disclosed today the production of a vaccine against mumps.

The immunizing agent has been used successfully in monkeys and now is being tested for the prevention of mumps in man.

Physicians of the health service said such vaccine not only would be a useful weapon against the disease in children but in addition had military importance They said mumps "stands at the top of the list of diseases that incapacitates soldiers."

The new vaccine was developed by Dr. Karl Habel of the department of infectious diseases

It was produced by introducing mumps virus into developing chick embryos

Cheyenne Students Seek Reconversion — To Coal

By The Associated Press

Ohio Cafe Proprietor Held on Assault Count

By The Associated Press

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., Nov 26—Frank Dewine, proprietor of the Glen cafe, was bound over to the Greene county common pleas court last night when he pleaded not guilty to charges of assault and battery before Mayor John Slate. Dewine was released under $100 bond.

Charges against Dewine were preferred by Keith Howard, editor of the Yellow Springs News, who asserted he was attacked last Wednesday evening. Howard is a member of the executive committee of the Yellow Springs Committee for Racial Equality. A mixed group of committee members earlier that evening had sought to enter Dewine's restaurant However, he closed his business

Marcus Shoup, Greene county prosecuting attorney said Dewine's case would be heard in January, when court convenes. Dewine faces a maximum sentence of a fine of $100 and six months in jail if found guilty.

TRUMAN TO ATTEND ARMY-NAVY GAME

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—President Truman is going to Philadelphia Saturday to attend the Army-Navy football game

The White House said today that Mr. and Mrs. Truman and members of his staff will leave by special train and return to Washington immediately after the game.

The President will sit first on the Navy and then on the Army side, changing his position between halves.

It will be his third football game this season. He saw the Army beat Oklahoma in September and the Navy lose to Penn State Nov. 16.

Ross said no formal White House Thanksgiving plans have been made, but that he thought Mr. Truman would have his turkey dinner at the White House Thursday.

The President and Mrs Truman will hold a diplomatic dinner at the White House tonight, the first of a post-war series of formal affairs.

Ohio Bank Robbery Trial Set Monday

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Nov. 26 — Arraignment of Bernard R. Howell, 24, and Glenn Neff, 21, on charges of armed robbery in connection with the $170,000 holdup of the Peoples Bank at Thornville, will take place here next Monday. They were indicted by a special federal grand jury yesterday.

The two men pleaded innocent at a hearing Nov. 18 and have been held under $50,000 bond each. The robbery occurred Nov. 16.

After indictment proceedings yesterday, Assistant U. S. District Attorney Loren G. Windom said the case would be pressed because the bank had all but suspended operations as its money and bonds were held as evidence.

Chinese Reds Open Manchurian Drive

By The Associated Press

NANKING, Nov. 26—Chinese Communist armies in north China and Manchuria moved against government-held positions on a half-dozen fronts today, apparently in answer to the political split with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, frontline dispatches reported.

Central government troops still were abiding by Chiang's cease-fire order, government officials insisted.

The most active Communist forces were pounding the approaches to Tatung, strategic rail city in northern Shansi province, where a government garrison withstood a 45-day siege before overwhelming the big Red base at Kalgan a month ago.

Friendly Uruguayan Government Assured

By The Associated Press

MONTEVIDEO, URUGUAY Nov. 26 — Continuation of a Uruguayan government friendly to the United States was assured today as complete unofficial returns from Sunday's balloting showed that 71-year-old To[illegible] Berreta had been elected president for a four-year term

The new chief executive—whose Colorado party polled nearly 90,000 more votes than that of Luis Alberto de Herrera, an extreme nationalist and friend of Argentine President Juan D Peron—told newsmen last night that he lived in the United States for some time several years ago when forced into political exile

"My government," Berreta commented, "in the words of your President (Franklin D.) Roosevelt will be a little to the left of center."

Broadway Lights Blink Out 3rd Time in Year

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—A moment before, the huge fairyland of lights blazed over Broadway in a garish imitation of the day.

Then—as if some giant hand snuffed out a million candles—the lights went out, hesitantly, reluctantly, over the milling throngs and leaving the "Great White Way" to the early dusk

It was the third time in [illegible] months that the street of [illegible] had put on its somber mantle

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

In Memory
★Of our wife and mother, Daisy D. Henshaw, who passed away Nov. 26, 1945.

Dear Mother, the breath has left
you,
They have folded your hands on your breast,
You've closed your eyes on this earth forever,
And gone to God for eternal rest.
There's an empty chair at the table,
There's a vacant place in our home,
But we must not mourn, for 'twas
God's holy rule.
It's hard for those who loved you
To see you put beneath the sod,
But the one who gave you, came and claimed you,
And now you abide in God.

Mrs.
Pennington
goes Gift
Hunting . . .

And naturally she ends up at Schaffner's. . . . . If you knew Mrs. Pennington as we do you'd know that she is satisfied only with the best. A member of that group of discriminating women who fastidiously select only the finest in everything, she very naturally makes it a point to find the store that can offer her just that.

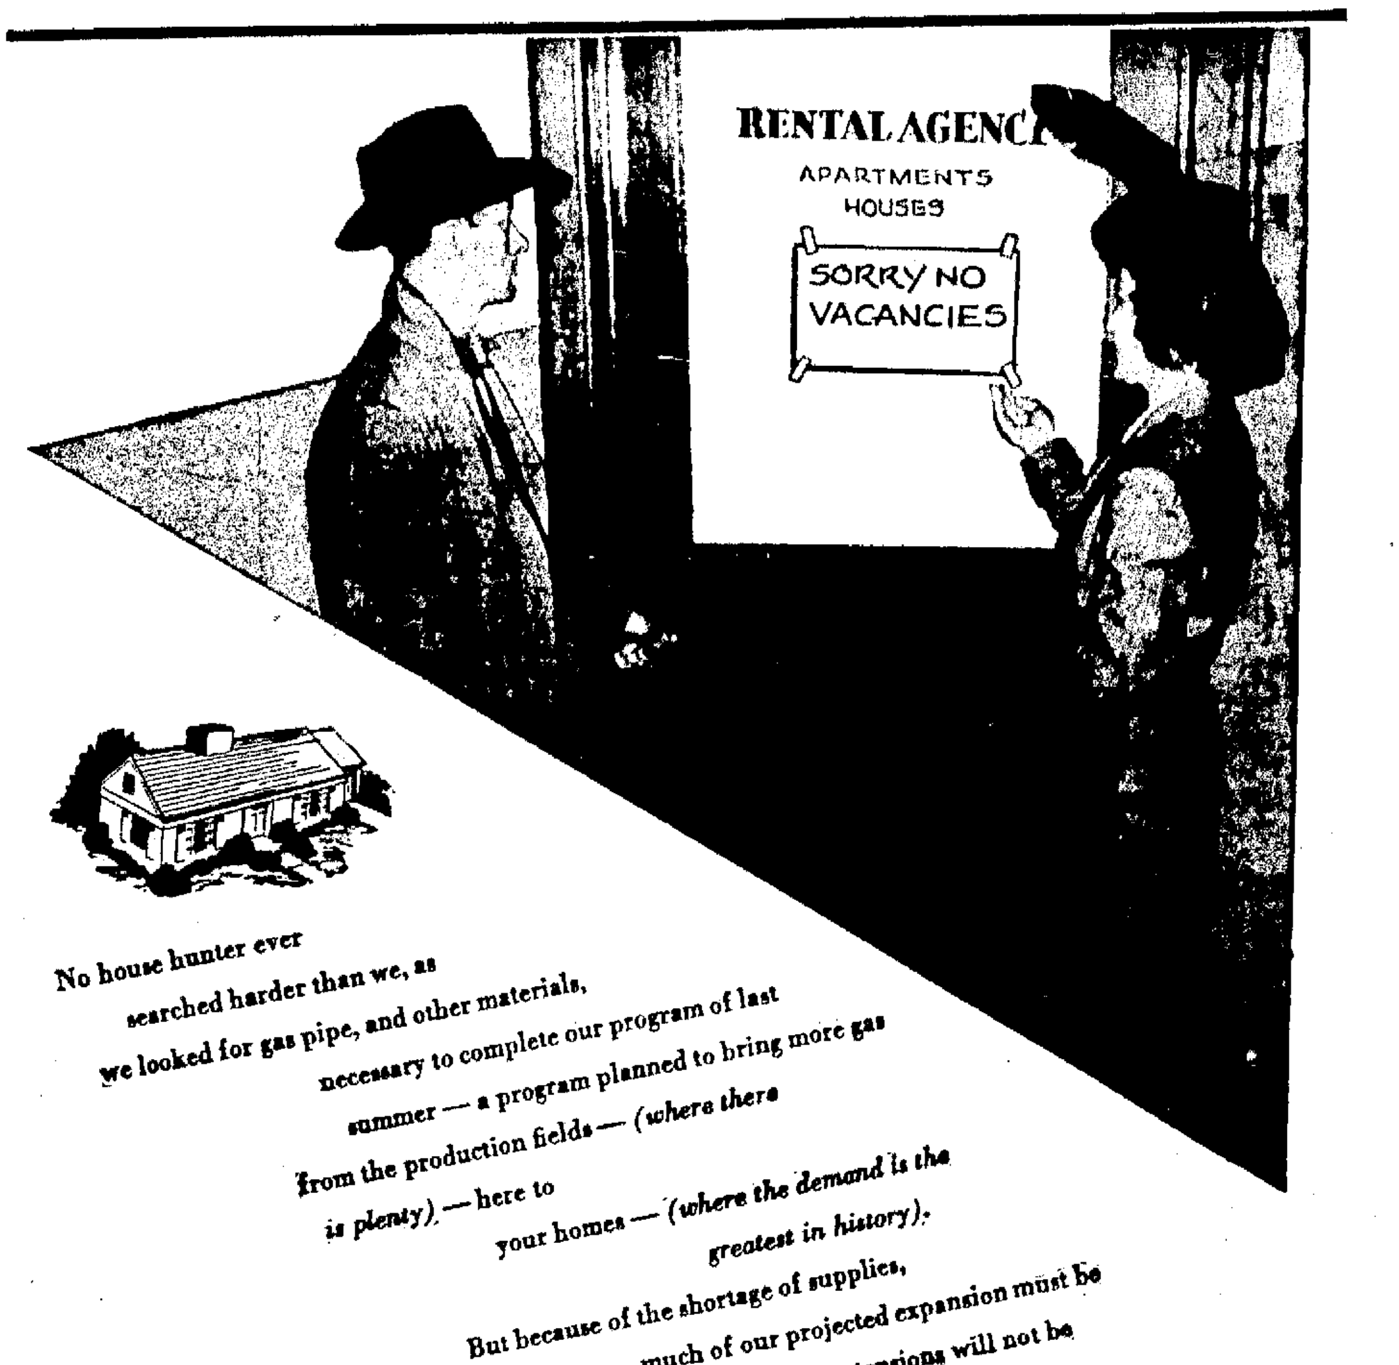
When Mrs. Pennington goes gift hunting the recipients of her Christmas parcels are invariably pleased and proud of the thoughtfulness. Her gifts are practical as well as pretty!

. . . . Gifts for the home! A comfortable chair, an attractive and ample sofa, lamps, or perhaps a table. These are the things that prompt words of praise! Yes! When Mrs. Pennington goes gift hunting it's Schaffner's she heads for first. Schaffner's where she finds quality and integrity an ever-present standard!

Schaffner's

P. S. Gifts for the home are best!

You'll Like Trading at Schaffner's



No house hunter ever searched harder than we, as we looked for gas pipe, and other materials, necessary to complete our program of last summer — a program planned to bring more gas from the production fields — (where there is plenty) — here to your homes — (where the demand is the greatest in history).

But because of the shortage of supplies, much of our projected expansion must be postponed. Many extensions will not be completed this year.

Each user can help protect himself and his neighbor against serious discomfort next winter by using gas savingly and with care. Gas saved now, can be kept in underground storage until those days of greatest need. It will be on hand when you must have it!

LaRue Church Group Makes Yuletide Plans

LARUE—Plans were made to pack a Christmas box for children's home at the December meeting when the Methodist In His Name circle met last week with Mrs. Doris Virden. Mrs. Mac Weist and Mrs. G. C. Wall were associate hostesses.

Gifts were brought by members to be sent through the Booth Festival to the Worthington Children's' home. Devotions were given by Mrs. T. M. McElheny and a paper was presented by Mrs. J. P. Olsen.

Special members featured on the youth night program at the LaRue Baptist church Saturday night included a young peoples chorus with Anne Hoover as leader and Betty Lu Hutchison as pianist; readings by Richard Millisor; vocals by a trio including Ruth and Julia Moore and Dorothy Watkins, with Mrs. W. L. Moore as pianist; solo by Patsy Longberry; duet by Fern Watkins and Jeon Nunson; trio by Betty, Catherine and Martha Monk with Mrs. W. F. Kniffin at the piano; solo by Juanita Soule of Meeker; piano solo by Betty Lu Hutchison; and talk by chairman Harley Kramp. Scripture was given by Martha Monk, and prayer by Joyce Parish. Others taking part were Carolyn Fate, Bruce Kramp, Dwilla Harvey, Marvin Glass, Larry Greenwood, Juanita Dempster, Mary Jane Barden and Frances Dilsaver.

Special lighting effects were in charge of Rev. L. D. Parish, Baptist pastor.

Youth night is a special feature of the Union Evangelistic services being held here nightly except Monday through Sunday evening, Dec. 1.

Club at Carey Holds "Sadie Hawkins" Dance

Special to The Star

CAREY—The Y-teen club of the Carey High school held its annual "Sadie Hawkins" dance Friday evening in the Carey High school. Georgie Dee O'Brien won first prize as Daisy Mae, and Frank Brown as "'Lil Abner."

As part of the entertainment "A Shot-gun Wedding" was held when 'Lil Abner and Daisy Mae were married by Horace Newhard as the preacher. Junior Bakles was "Pappy" and Patty Johnson as "Mammy". This was followed by the "Yokum-Scragg" feud, a tug-of-war, between the boys.

Misses Lucia Grieser, Ellen Lyden, and Alice Harrer, high school teachers chaperoned the dance.

Mrs. H. B. Keller entertained the members of the 1900 club in her home Friday afternoon.

Mrs. H. B. Turnbell was awarded high score in bridge and Mrs. Clarence Thome received the guest prize.

Mrs. Ralph Vogel entertained a group of Sophomore girls in the Vogel home, Nov. 21, honoring the fifteenth birday anniversary of her daughter, Doris.

Grangers Hold Party In Kenton Armory

KENTON, Nov. 26—The state armory at Kenton resembled a three-ring circus Friday evening as 600 Grangers and their friends from the county met for the semi-annual Grange party. The show, put on by the Grangers themselves, featured clowns, pseuedo animals and circus performers. Round and square dancing followed the entertainment which was planned by the lecturers of the county's Granges.

Guests of honor at the party were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Linerode of Canton, Mr. Linerode is state lecturer.

Thanksgiving Service Wednesday in Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 26—Rev. J. G. Wells, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will bring the Union Thanksgiving message Wednesday at the United Brethren church. The union services will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Other ministers of the city participating in the service are: Rev. Norman Riedesel of First Presbyterian church, who will have invocation; Rev. R. R. Elliker of First Reformed church, scripture lesson; Rev. W. H. Ellis of the Church of Christ, prayer; Rev. L. E. Guffy of Free Methodist church, closing prayer and benediction.

The program also will feature a soprano solo by Mrs. Ralph Kleinknecht. The pastor of the host church, Rev. C. V. Roop, will preside.

37th Division Chapter Organized in Bucyrus

BUCYRUS, Nov. 26—Organization of a Bucyrus chapter of the 37th Division association has been completed with the election of officers and the naming of the local chapter.

Harold McAdams was elected president at the final organization meeting in which Richard R. McCloskey of Toledo, national vice president, took a part. Others elected were; vice president, Clarence Brinkman; secretary, Charles Riddlebaugh, treasurer, William Dustman; executive board, Burlen Jacobs, Victor Vollrath, Wallace Brombacher, Joseph Kibler and Richard Kronenberger.

The chapter has been named Richard Kanable chapter in honor of a Bucyrian who transferred from the division and was killed in action in France.

All-Big-Nine Team Boasts Aggressive Line and Powerhouse Backfield

Indiana Rules AP Selections

Third Place 11 Lands Three Berths as Ohio State Captures 2 Spots.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 26—A sturdy, aggressive line and a backfield powered by the Big Nine's scoring, passing and yard-gaining champions—that is the 1946 all-Western conference football team chosen for The Associated Press by league coaches.

Indiana, the 1945 titlist which finished third this season, dominated the selections by capturing three places. Michigan and Ohio State each placed two men. Illinois, Rose Bowl-bound after winning its first conference crown in 18 years, landed only one berth along with Northwestern, Iowa and last-place Purdue.

Wisconsin won a second team position, but Minnesota got in the listings only on the honorable mention list.

Big 9 Second Team

68 Names Submitted

The nine grid coaches submitted a total of 68 names for the all-star lineup, but there were no unanimous selections. Missing this distinction by one vote were Michigan's halfback, Bob Chappuis, who set a Big Nine record by averaging 148.1 yards per game, and tackle Warren Amling of Ohio State, the only holdover from the 1945 team. Each collected 17 out of a possible 18 points.

Seven seniors, three juniors and one sophomore—whose average ages are more than 23 years, compared with only 20 last year—make up the first team whose line averages 198 pounds and backfield 188¼ pounds.

Teamed with Chappuis, the army radio operator who escaped the Nazis in Italy after being shot down on his 21st mission, in the all-star backfield are Vic Schwall of Northwestern, Ben Raimondi of Indiana and Iowa's 212-pound bone-jarring fullback, Dick Hoerner.

Leads in Scoring

Schwall, one of the conference's best ball-carriers with an average gain of 5.9 yards per try, also was top scorer with 40 points.

Raimondi led the passers on number of completions, connecting on 48 of 89 for 598 yards. Another great passer, Purdue's Bob DeMoss, failed to get a single first team vote and won only honorable mention.

Elmer Madar, one of Michigan's "seven oak posts" in 1942, and 26-year-old Cecil Souders of Ohio State were the first team ends. At tackles were aggressive, play-making Amling and Indiana's Russ Deal, who nosed out Bill Kay of Iowa and Bill Ivy of Northwestern in the nominations.

Alex Agase, an ex-Marine who was twice wounded on Okinawa, was Illinois' only contribution to the No. 1 lineup. He and Dick Barwegen of Purdue won the guard posts by a wide majority.

Moving up from a second team choice in 1945 to the first team center assignment was John Cannady of Indiana who received a good margin over Wisconsin's Fred Negus.

Uncertainty among coaches as to what position versatile Pete Pihos of Indiana should play, shoved the all-star fullback of last year to the second team. Pihos, handicapped in midseason by injuries, was mentioned at end, halfback, quarterback and fullback, where he performed as signal-caller for the Hoosiers.

Tackle Clarence Esser of Wisconsin and fullback Ed Cody of Purdue, both of whom made the No. 1 team last year, were relegated to honorable mention this time, while Michigan's bantam center, Harold Watts, also a 1945 choice, failed to get a single first or second team vote.

Given honorable mention were tackle Csuri, guard Dean, center Adamle and halfback Krall, all of Ohio State.

THESE PLAYERS HAVE been selected for the 1946 All-Western Conference football team, by a poll of Western Conference football coaches.

Cecil Souders, All Big 9 End, Sparked Bucyrus High Team

When the All Big 9 team was announced, Cecil Souders, Ohio State left end of Bucyrus, was one of the players who received a first string berth.

Souders graduated from Bucyrus High school in 1939 after playing on the team for four seasons. He was a member of the Varsity B club for three years and in 1938, his last season at the school, won a berth on the high school All-Ohio team which played in Florida. The Varsity B club is composed of high school letter winners.

Souders is married and has a four year old daughter and this is his senior year. He played for Ohio State in 1942, 1943 and part of 1944 before entering the Navy. He also played for Great Lakes.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Souders, reside at 220 West Southern avenue in Bucyrus.

AMLING TURNS DOWN TILT OFFER; SOUDERS ACCEPTS

Bucyrian To Play in East-West Game Jan. 1.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 26—Warren Amling, retiring captain of the Ohio State football team announced last night he would not play in the East-West Shrine game New Year's Day.

The Buckeye left tackle said he had too much school work to do.

Cy Souders, varsity end, accepted the offer, made by Coach Andy Kerr of Colgate, mentor of the East squad.

Harding Basketball Ticket Prices Set

At a meeting of the athletic board of Harding High school held Monday morning, prices for the basketball games during the winter were established, with adults at 75 cents and students, 10 cents. Games will be played in the Edison Junior High school gymnasium. Adult tickets for the games will be put on sale in advance at Markert and Lewis as in years past and student tickets will be on sale at the school. A total of 250 tickets will be sold for each game which will be divided as follows: 50 tickets for the visitors, 100 student tickets and 100 adult tickets.

Briton Stars on Gridiron

By The Associated Press

SHARON HILL, Pa. — There may be a little bit of England on the undefeated Sharon Hill High school football team—but the heart of Eric Peter Buckland now belongs to America.

Blame it on football, perhaps, or the friendly influence of U. S. youth. The 18-year-old British-born fullback isn't sure what makes him want to be an American. He was evacuated from his British home in 1940 during the Nazi "blitz"—returning to his family in Teddington, 10 miles outside of London, last year.

But five years in the U. S. had changed Eric.

"My mother couldn't understand until she saw how much I missed America and then she let me come back," explains Eric, youngest son of nine children.

"The British boys don't care much for football," says Eric.

A hard-charging fullback, the five-foot-ten, 162-pound youth handles the punting assignment and placekicks the extra points for the Sharon Hill eleven. Eric has tallied three touchdowns, converted 14 extra points.

He lives here with the William J. Charles family. The Charleses sponsored him when he was an evacuee.

Caledonia Cagers Boast 4 Returning Lettermen

Caledonia High school cagers opened their season by winning from Iberia and Edison. The team is strengthened this year by the return of three lettermen, Herbert Rodgers, John Robertson, and Eugene Freet, and a newcomer Kenneth Comstock, a varsity letter man from Harpster.

The following is the basketball schedule for the year: Nov. 23 Waldo (non league); Nov. 27, Prospect; Dec. 6, Meeker; Dec. 14, at Edison; Dec. 17, at New Bloomington; Dec. 21, Brown Twp.; Dec. 27, Salem Twp.; Jan. 3 at Morral; Jan. 7, at Green Camp; Jan. 10, at Waldo; Jan. 17, Claridon; Jan. 24, Pleasant; Jan. 28, at Martel; Jan. 31, Kirkpatrick; Feb. 7, at LaRue.

Waldo Legion To Sponsor Post Basketball Team

A basketball team will be sponsored by Porter-Snyder Post, American Legion of Waldo, it was reported by the athletic committee at a meeting of the post Thursday night in the K. of P. hall. The team is being organized, the athletic committee reported, and any teams wishing games are asked to contact A. C. Reynolds of Waldo. The membership committee reported a chart has been installed upon which will be recorded the progress made in membership.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 26—Massillon, O., High school was considered today as a possible opponent for Tech high school of Atlanta, Ga., in the peanut bowl football contest Jan. 1.

Green Camp - Kirk Tilt Opens County League Cage Play

The county league basketball schedule will be opened tonight when Green Camp plays at Kirkpatrick. This will be the fourth game of the season for Green Camp and the second for Kirkpatrick.

Green Camp opened their season Nov. 8 on their home floor downing Wharton 33 to 22 and Nov. 19 swamped Radnor 60 to 30. They lost to the Alumni 39 to 34. Green Camp had a total of 20 men report to Coach Norman Roettger for their first practice session.

Kirkpatrick opened its season dropping one 39 to 38 to Sulphur Springs. They will have four lettermen to start against Green Camp. These boys are James Frank, who won a letter the year before last but wasn't with the team last season; Richard Janes, Raymond Hildreth, and Ray Knapp.

The other starter will be Carl Hildreth, a brother to Raymond. The team is coached by D. M. Lust and they have been working on basic plays and will probably use a man for man defense. Kirkpatrick last year won 12 and lost five games.

CARDS TO BUILD PARK

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Nov. 26—The world champion St. Louis Cardinals will build a ball park costing over $100,000 in Allentown for their class B Interstate league farm club "as soon as materials are available," Art Routzong, business manager-resident of the Allentown team, announced today.

BLAIK DENIES HE'S QUITTING AT ARMY

By The Associated Press

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 26—Earl (Red) Blaik, head coach of Army's careening Cadets says its all news to him—the reports that he plans to resign his West Point job at the end of the season and return to his previous post as coach at Dartmouth.

Asked last night to comment on one such report, Blaik said: "It's the first I've heard of it. There is no foundation or fact in the story at all."

Some newspapers have hinted that Blaik would be succeeded by Brig. Gen. Robert Neyland, now head coach at Tennessee. Contacted at Knoxville, Neyland replied:

"No comment. West Point officials have not contacted me."

Battle Royal Booked At Armory Thursday

Five grapplers will crawl into the ring at the Armory Thanksgiving night with the intention of throwing the other four out. Carded as a holiday special is a battle royal featuring Al Szasz, of St. Louis; Mike Mihalakis, of Hollywood; Danny Savage, former All-American gridder, of Utah; Whitey Walberg, of Milwaukee and a new man, Salvatore Balbo of Quincy, Mass. He has been wrestling around Toledo previously.

In the battle royal the first man out will be eliminated from the night's events completely, the next two out will fight the semi-final, a 45 minute match for two out of three falls, and the last two men remaining will engage in the final, a two hour, two out of three fall event.

Delaware U. To Meet Rollers in Bowl Tilt

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 26 — The University of Delaware will be Rollins college's foe in a post season football game in the Cigar Bowl here Jan. 1.

The Cigar Bowl committee announced last night the Delaware team, undefeated in 30 contests, had accepted a bid to play here in preference to two other invitations. Delaware was ranked the 15th college in The Associated Press weekly poll.

At Newark, Del., Coach Bill Murray said his Blue Hens also were invited to play in the Glass Bowl at Toledo, O., and the Tobacco Bowl at Lexington, Ky., but had turned down both because of their early December playing dates.

Bloody but Unbowed Ohio State Turns Thoughts To Next Year

Marion's Fazio, Bucyrus' Souders and Upper Sandusky's Wolfe Honored at Banquet.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 26 — Ohio State's football team, buoyed by the plaudits of school officials turned today from the disappointments of 1946 to preparations for next season.

Coach Paul Bixler, endorsed by President Howard L. Bevis and Athletic Director-Elect Richard Larkins, told the players at the university's annual appreciation dinner last night to "start planning tomorrow for next year."

Dr. Bevis expressed "confidence in our coach and his staff," saying he spoke for the athletic board and the university.

"Football Still a Sport"

Discussing the [illegible] attention [illegible] to the 1946 eleven, Dr. Bevis said "Football at Ohio State is a sport and we mean to regard it as a sport."

"More than one million dollars [illegible] at Ohio State games this season."

[illegible] Larkins assured [illegible] Ohio State is [illegible] market for a new coach" adding he found wide approval of Bixler by team members and the athletic staff.

Both Warren Amling, retiring captain and Tommy James, Massillon, who was elected to succeed him, lauded Bixler's [illegible].

"Rough Year," Says Bixler

Bixler, reviewing Ohio State's reverses said "it was a rough year" and expressed regret the dinner was not celebrating a Western Conference championship and a Rose Bowl bid.

But toastmaster James [illegible] sounded a more optimistic note, saying the occasion "is not a wake" because "we are very much alive." Referring to Ohio State conquerors, [illegible] promised "we're going to pay them back one of these days."

Joe Whisler, sophomore fullback from Willard, O., was given the Ohio State Journal's Quarterback club trophy as the outstanding first year man.

Pre-Season Cage Play at Y.M.C.A. Winds Up

Pre-season play at the Y was wound up last night with three games held. In the first the Junior Chamber of Commerce downed Martel 55 to 30. In the second contest Green Camp K. of P. dropped Fairfield Engineering 45 to 28 and in the final Guy's Hardware dropped Kirkpatrick 34 to 25.

When league each team will be in is to be announced tomorrow and the regular league season will start at the Y.M.C.A. next week. Also Caledonia dropped out of the league last night at the last minute thus making an opening for another team. A girls squad is also needed to finish out their league.

Durocher Signs Terms as Highest Paid Baseball Pilot But It Won't Mean Thing if Bums Don't Win Flag

Lippy Leo Talks 1947 Season Chances Before Past Ink Dries

KLYN, Nov. 26—All the hullabaloo about Leo Durocher highest paid manager in baseball won't mean a thing in the Dodgers don't win the pennant next season. Nobody better than Leo.

Rickey on Stand

Rickey was put on the stand. Somebody asked about Jackie Robinson. What did the Brooks plan to do with the first Negro star in modern day baseball, the second baseman who led the International league in hitting at Montreal.

"Robinson is still in the Montreal list," Rickey replied. "He'll stay there until he makes the Brooklyn club, if and when."

All this developed when Rickey called a news conference to announce Durocher had signed a year contract for 1947 at a substantial advance over the 1946 bonus arrangement.

It was reported that Leo received a $42,000 basic salary last year plus an additional attendance bonus amounting to about $20,000. In any event he was up in the high brackets, over the $50,000 mark.

Durocher wasted little time filling the coaching job vacated by Chuck Dressen, who signed with the Yankees under Manager Bucky Harris. The new coach is Jake Pitler, a "field man" in the Dodger farm organization last season.

The new Durocher contract contains no bonus clauses, no special clauses of any kind, only a flat salary.

Fans To See "Grudge" Ring Battle Tonight

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26—The long-awaited rematch of champion Bob Montgomery and his conqueror, Wes Mouzon, will be staged at Convention hall tonight with the New York-Pennsylvania version of the lightweight title hanging in the balance.

Both battlers completed their training programs in tip-top shape and each is out for a knockout in their grudge fight. Oddsmakers have installed the 20-year-old Mouzon as an 8 to 5 favorite.

The grudge battle theme has been gaining crescendo ever since Mouzon flattened the champ in the second round of their non-title brawl last August. Montgomery claimed he entered the ring cold and never had a chance. Mouzon called him a "crybaby."

For then the vested interests, which soon develop in the separate states will be a guaranty that Berlin will not become again the capitol of a centralized bureaucratic Reich—a Reich so unified that it can be captured and regimented by a Communist party or a Nazi party.

Molotov has said that he does not want a federal Germany. Naturally. But he cannot prevent the western powers from reorganizing three-quarters of Germany for federalism. When they have done that, there can be a central government which we can trust, not one which Molotov can use. Then it will be up to Molotov to find how long he can keep his Germans from obtaining the same rights as all the other Germans.

Though we have lost precious time and have allowed Europe to haggle in vain over East Europe, we still have the opportunity and the means to retrieve the situation. But to do that we must have the vision of what Germany can be in Europe as a whole, and we must act with decision, having calculated correctly the real balance of forces.

ARMY MEETS NAVY STILL NO. 1 GRID 11

Middies Could Knock Them Out of First with Upset.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—Army comes up to the Navy game in Philadelphia Saturday still chosen by voters in The Associated Press' weekly football poll as the nation's No. 1 team.

Thus the Black Knights of the Hudson offer Tom Hamilton's Middies one more psychological advantage in the all-important service classic. Added to the incentive of salvaging a game from a so-far disastrous season by blasting the three-year victory record of the Cadets, the Navy has the chance to topple Earl Blaik's men from first place in the nation's rankings.

Should the Middies accomplish the seemingly impossible by scoring an upset at Franklin Field, they probably would unseat Army from the position it has held every week but one since this season's poll started. Only other holder of the top spot this year has been ill-starred Texas, now down to No. 20.

The Irish of Notre Dame have been pushing the Cadets for the first-place perch all season and almost got to the top in this week's balloting among sports writers.

As a result of the Irish 41-0 thumping of Tulane last Saturday, 32 of the 124 writers voted the Leahymen No. 1, while 12 more called it a tie between Army and Notre Dame. Sixty-six put Army on top to give the Cadets 1,173 points. The Irish were just 29 points behind with 1,144. On the other hand, the South Benders collected 69 second-place votes to Army's 39.

Other first-place ballots gave unbeaten and untied Georgia and U.C.L.A. five each, which put this pair in third and fourth positions, respectively.

Illinois' Big Nine champions held on to fifth place and Michigan's Wolverines jumped from eighth to sixth on the basis of their 58-6 blasting of Ohio State last Saturday.

BILL HOOVER, STAR end on the Miami university football team which will close its season against the University of Cincinnati at Cincinnati before 27,000 people Thanksgiving Day, specializes in recovering fumbles. Thanks to his alertness, Miami scored important touchdowns again Dayton and Western Michigan. He is also an exceptional pass receiver. His home is in Louisville, O.

FUNERAL AT KENTON

KENTON, O., Nov. 26—Funeral services were held at the St. John church Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. Elizabeth Stoll, 71, of east of Kenton who died Saturday at her home. She is survived by the husband, Henry Stoll, a son, Hoover; two sisters, Mrs. George Searson of near Kenton and Mrs. Ray Williams of Richmond, Ind., and one brother, Lewis Gerlach of Hardin county. Burial was in Grove cemetery.

VEECK LEAVES ON TALENT EXPEDITION

To Attend Los Angeles Meet in Search of Replacements.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26—President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians planned to leave tonight on a trip expected to produce a new crop of talent for the Tribe.

He said he would remain in Chicago four days and then depart for Los Angeles and the winter baseball meetings.

The Indians, who finished last season in sixth place, need help in catching, pitching and outfielding positions in particular.

For bait, it is believed they are willing to sacrifice second baseman Ray Mack, third baseman Ken Keltner and outfielder George Case along with second-string pitchers and outfielders.

Manager Lou Boudreau, coaches Bill McKechnie and Oscar Melillo and Tribe executive Harry Grabiner also will attend the baseball conference on the coast.

Hardin County River Drive Is Underway

KENTON, Nov. 26—A new scenic drive is being built in Hardin county along the Scioto river. The road, which is now under construction, is being built on the north bank of the river where dirt piled from dredging in past years is being leveled.

Eventually the 40-foot wide road will stretch from Kenton to Foraker about five miles away. The Upper Scioto Drainage and Conservancy district is doing the work. About one mile of the road is now passable.

Irish Move Cage Opener Up One Day So Gridders Can Attend Football Banquet

St. Mary will open its cage season a day sooner than had previously been scheduled to enable the members of the basketball squad who also played football to attend the banquet, given for Marion's high school football teams by the Inter Club council, Tuesday night.

A game, at Bucyrus, had been carded for that night but the date was set up so that the Irish quintet will open its season Monday.

The Irish will not have had much time for practice, when they do go against the Redmen, because they have no gymnasium of their own on which to practice. They have been using the Y. M. C. A. floors and working out about three nights a week.

22 Men Out

Coach Fetter still has 22 men from which he will choose a varsity and reserve squad. Two of the players are lettermen from last year's squad and another won a letter, at Jackson, Ohio, last year. These players are Pat Bray and Dick Schuler, St. Mary lettermen, and Bob Stuber, letter winner from Jackson. Fetter stressed the fact that no position on the squad has been cinched as yet and he will not announce his starting lineup until the night before the game.

In commenting on what he has been training his squad on, Coach Fetter said that they have been rehearsing fundamentals and are attempting to develop a fast breaking offense. On defense they will use both a zone and man for man.

From his squad of 22 Fetter plans to choose 10 players to comprise the varsity club, the remaining 12 will form the reserves. Monday night at Bucyrus the reserve game will start at 7:30 and the varsity is expected to get under way at 8:30.

Many schools in the district will floor their squads this week and also the county league will get under way. Most of the county league games will be played tomorrow night, however, the opening game of the league will be played tonight when Green Camp goes to Kirkpatrick. This will be the third game of the season for Green Camp and Kirkpatrick's second. Previously Green Camp has downed Wharton and Radnor while Kirkpatrick in their initial stages of organizing, dropped a game by one point to Sulphur Springs.

Upper at Kenton

In the district, Upper Sandusky, with a veteran squad, will go to Kenton tomorrow night for their opening game. Kenton previously has played against its alumni but this will be their first game in inter-scholastic competition. They have only one letterman on this year's squad.

Pleasant which has played several games this season without dropping any, will not open in the county league tomorrow night but will go to Richwood Friday. Pleasant last year finished third in the Marion county league. This will be the opening game for Richwood and although their coach R. D. Fetter has few experienced players to start the season with he thinks his team will give a good account of itself.

Other games to be played this week include London at Marysville, Friday night and Eden at Harpster, Wednesday night. Ashley will open its season tonight against Brown in a home game.

Funeral Rites Held For Hardin Co. Woman

Special to The Star

KENTON, Nov. 26 — Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m. for Mrs. Ella Belle Geiberson, 74, who died Sunday at the County hospital where she had been a patient for the past three weeks.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Mabel Klinger of Lima and Mrs. Leroy Newland of Kenton; a sister, Mrs. D. A. Kaiser of Dunkirk; two stepsons, George and Cloise Geiberson of Kenton and a step-daughter, Gladys of Toledo. Burial was in Grove cemetery at Kenton.

"Gay 90's" Party Held by Circle

The Knights of Columbus hall was transformed into the traditional home of a hostess of half a century ago and guests promenaded through the rooms in bustles, puffed sleeves and plumes which glamorized that era, at the "Gay 90's" party held by Our Lady of Victory circle, Daughters of Isabella, Monday night.

The members were seated in the "sitting room" for a short time before being invited to the "parlor," where a lighted "coal oil" lamp graced the table covered with a red fringed cover, and the chairs and divans boasted of elaborate pillows and tidies. Enlarged pictures on easels and family portraits on the piano completed the setting. In the kitchen was the family table "set" for the next meal with a red and white checked tablecloth, sugar bowl and spoon holder and the plates "turned over" the knives and forks.

Costumes ranged from real Lillian Russell hats piled high with plumes, panniers, puffs, bonnets and capes to lace berthas and breath-taking stayed basques, wedding dresses and grandmothers' modest raiment, and accessories to match.

The party got under way with "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and other tunes of that era, with Miss Patricia Cornely playing the accordion accompaniments. Refreshments included ice cream molds upon which were inscribed such wisecracks of the times as "Oh, you kid," "Skidoo," and others.

A grand award for the best costume was won by Mrs. Edith Cooper, in the grand march led by Mrs. Mary Maxwell, regent, and Mrs. Maude Schelb, general chairman for the party. In a contest, "Going To Visit Grandma," the contest participants, Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Cecelia Van Oss received awards and contest awards were won by Mrs. Frances Schelb, Miss Regina Lawler, Mrs. Katherine Monnette and Mrs. Catherine Pruzzo.

Assisting Mrs. Schelb was a committee composed of Mrs. Florence McGinnis, Mrs. Mary Malloy, Mrs. Agnes Lowinger, Mrs. Marie McAndrew, Mrs. Florence Axe, Mrs. Ruth Werley, Mrs. Mary V. Daum, Mrs. Amelia Eckenrode, Mrs. Anna Mae Johnston, Mrs. Margaret Enders, Mrs. Catherine Zwilling, Miss Kathryn Burke and Miss Elizabeth Ballinger.

CHURCH NEARLY FILLED FOR MISSION SERVICE

Visiting Ministers Continue Series of Special Meetings.

St. Mary Catholic church was nearly filled Monday night for the second in the series of sermons at the men's mission being conducted this week by Rev. Roland Maher, C. P., and Rev. Walter Kaelin, C. P., of the Passionist Fathers.

Rev. Maher gave the instruction at Monday's service and his sermon was on "Confession." He cautioned his audience to hold fast to this ancient tradition of the church and urged them, above all things to have sincerity when making use of this great sacrament of the Catholic religion. The sermon was followed by benediction and masses this morning at 5:45 and 6:45 o'clock were followed by brief talks. Tonight Rev. Kaelin will give a sermon on "The Malice of Mortal Sin."

Rev. Maher, who has been conducting missions for the last 20 years, is stationed in Detroit, and Rev. Kaelin, is secretary of the Provincial of the Passionists Congregation in Chicago. The mission masses in the morning and evening services at 7:30 o'clock will continue each night throughout the week.

Accident, Excitement Of Recognition Prove Fatal

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Mich. 26 — Cars driven by Harold R. Donaldson, 64, of Memphis, Mich. ,and Henry Doeren, 60, of Detroit, collided in a minor accident and the two stepped into a safety zone to exchange names and addresses.

"Why, I know you," Doeren said. "You work for the Budd Manufacturing Co. I've talked with you over the phone many times in the past 20 years."

Donaldson acknowledged the acquaintance. As he did Doeren collapsed. He was dead upon arrival at receiving hospital.

Police ascribed his death to the effects of "excitement" on a weak heart.

Running from Police Lands Man in Court

A guilty conscience resulted in the arrest Monday of Orville Blankenship, 23, of 457 Silver street and his conviction today in municipal court on a charge of petty larceny.

Blankenship pleaded guilty to the charge, admitting taking several cloth bags from the stock room at Marion Milling Co. Friday. He was fined $50 and costs.

He was arrested at Union Depot Monday night when he suddenly started running when he saw a police car. He was stopped and found to be carrying a number of the bags.

Edward J. Ruzzo Appointed To Fill Vacancy in Council

Edward J. Ruzzo, Marion attorney, was nominated to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Fifth Ward Councilman A. H. Dowler at Monday night's meeting of the city council.

Dowler resigned because he has moved from the Fifth ward. He was not present at Monday's meeting, but presented his resignation and recommended Ruzzo's appointment by letter.

Ruzzo was nominated unanimously after Councilman D. R. Biggert had precipitated a heated discussion by questioning Ruzzo's discretion in being in the audience. Biggert recommended that the post not be filled until the following meeting. Ruzzo took exception to Biggert's remarks, declaring that he had been led to believe he was undertaking a public service by making himself available and that Biggert's criticism was unfounded and humiliating.

He stated he would not accept the nomination after the vote but was persuaded to withhold his final decision until the next meeting.

William Smith of 928 Adams street appeared before council and complained that the colored population of the city was not given a fair break by the taxicab companies. He said it is extremely difficult for a colored man to hire a cab in Marion and named instances of such discriminaton. He requested that he be permitted to operate two cabs primarily for the use of colored persons and was advised to bring in a petition to council to that effect.

Acts for C. of C.

Charles D. Harmon, chairman of the legal committee of the Chamber of Commerce, introduced himself to council, stating that he had been delegated to study, as representative of the Chamber, legislation passing through council.

A variety of routine business was also considered by council.

Mayor Harry L. Dowler has returned an ordinance to proceed with the Smith street sewer, passed at the previous meeting, with his veto. He vetoed the measure, he told council Monday night, when informed by City Auditor Elmer Shaw that the ordinance set a precedent which would prove unworkable as sewer appropriations mounted, in that it provided that the city's portion of such improvements be paid in a lump sum.

When the proposed sewer program gets under way the city's portion will mount to several thousand dollars, Shaw said, and such appropriations will upset city finances. Council recommended that the finance committee and city solicitor make a study of the problem to ascertain a more practicable method of financing the projects. Appropriations over a longer period or issuance of city bonds were among suggestions.

A motion to repeal the 1942 council's ordinance to issue $200,000 in bonds for additions to City hospital was placed on its second reading.

To Buy Mower

The safety-service director was authorized to purchase a tractor and grass mower for use on city-owned lands.

Mrs. Gertrude M. Peterson submitted a petition for commercialization of part of a lot at 490 Silver street for construction of an auto body paint and electrical appliance shop. The petition was referred to the planning commission. The planning commission turned down a previous proposal by Mrs. Peterson that the entire lot be commercialized.

The city engineer presented a report to council outlining costs to the city and private property of ten proposed sewer jobs.

Councilman Biggert complained that Olney avenue was blocked by cars parked on both sides of the street on nights when there were activities at the armory. The safety-service director was directed to investigate.

Former Galion Rector Will Be Made Bishop

GALION, Nov. 26—Rev. Lane W. Barton, a former Galion rector, who was elected to the Episcopate Sept. 17 in an executive session of the House of Bishops of the Episcopal church at Philadelphia, will be consecrated as Bishop of the Missionary District of Eastern Oregon, Nov. 26, at St. Paul's Episcopal church at Norwalk. Rev. Barton was in charge of Grace Episcopal church here from 1922 to 1927, serving at St. Mark's in Shelby at the same time.

KENTUCKY MAN FINED

Roy O. Banfield, 25, of Boyd county, Ky., was fined $25 and costs today in municipal court when he pleaded guilty to charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct. He was arrested by C. and O. police Monday night at Union station, accused of creating a disturbance there.

The Newspaper Boy

Did you ever stop to think the service your newspaper boy performs?

He makes his delivery nightly, whether it is raining, snowing, windy or 100 in the shade. Nothing stops him from making his daily appointed rounds.

He is a little business man operating a business just as your milk man, your bread man, your grocer, or any other merchant.

He buys his papers at wholesale and sells them to you at retail. The difference is his profit.

He is the soul judge of whom to extend credit.

He depends upon the prompt payment of his accounts for his profit and working capital just as the merchant that operates any business.

He has his problems the same as you and I do. Some people want the paper delivered one place, others want it in a different location, he tries to please everyone.

However — should you at any time have irregular delivery of The Star to your home we shall appreciate a prompt complaint.

Mrs. Harley G. Drury Of Cardington Dies

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON, Nov. 26—Mrs. Laura Bell Drury, 75, wife of Harley G. Drury, of 110 East Walnut street, died in her home at 3 p. m. yesterday after an illness of two and a half years. She suffered cerebral hemorrhage.

Born Oct. 25, 1871, in Cardington township, she was a daughter of Andrew J. Bolinger and Matilda Linder Bolinger. In 1890, she married Mr. Drury. She was a member of the Methodist church, of D. of U. V., and of the Garden club. Surviving with her husband are two brothers, Daniel W. Bolinger and Glen D. Bolinger, both of Edison.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in Curl's mortuary here by Rev. F. A. LePage, pastor of the Methodist church. Burial will be in Glendale cemetery here. Friends may call at the Drury home until noon Thursday.

Marion Boy Injured In Bucyrus Mishap

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 26—Eight-year-old Harold Harris, son of Mrs. Susie Harris of 151 Glad street, Marion, is in Bucyrus City hospital today suffering from multiple fractures of the pelvis. He was struck by an automobile Saturday but apparently not seriously injured; x-rays Monday revealed the fractures.

The boy was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Joan Laughbaum. He and his mother are visiting at the Robert Ison home here.

TRAINER ESCAPES IN LION BATTLE. Dick Clemens, Peoria, Ill., animal trainer, snaps his whip at two of the survivors of a 10-lion battle in which two beasts were killed. Fight took place when four lions, including these two and the two that were killed, were introduced into a cage holding six old lions. Trainer Clemens, remaining in the cage for the battle, escaped uninjured. (International)

Programs on the Air

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—This is being billed as "National Radio Week" in delayed observance of broadcasting's twenty-sixth anniversary. The actual date was Nov. 2.

The observance, sponsored by the Radio Manufacturers' association, with the cooperation of the National Association of Broadcasters is taking the form more on the order of displays of new radio sets and of special programs on various local stations.

The week also is the birthday of KYW, Philadelphia, now 25 years old. This station, among the first to get on the air, started in Chicago in 1921, moving to Philadelphia in 1934. It once called itself "your radio telephone station."

Red Barber's stunt of the simultaneous broadcasting of two football games—Illinois vs Northwestern and Ohio State vs Michigan—did all right. At least as far as could be ascertained, listeners liked the idea.

In fact after the event, Red himself was so well pleased at the smoothness of the operation that he commented: "We might do three or four the next time." That would be in the 1947 season.

Some program developments in prospect Frank Black, who has been conducting for the Robert Merrill Sunday concert at 2 on NBC, will transfer to the concert of stars, a half-hour later. He replaces Howard Barlow, who concluded last weekend . . . Rise Stevens of the opera is to become the singing lead in the family time on CBS Dec. 8, replacing Patrice Munsel. She is being joined by Jimmy Carroll as tenor . . . Beginning with tonight's broadcast, American forum of MBS is adding a telephone poll in a specified community to check listener's reaction to the subject discussion.

Tuning tonight, NBC—8 Rudy Vallee show; 9 Amos and Andy, 9 30 Fibber and Molly, 10 Bob Hope . . .

CBS—7 30 American Melody, 8 30 Mel Blanc show; 9 Vox Pop from Buzzard's Bay, Mass., 9 30 Gene Kelly in "Glass Key," 10 30, Open Hearing "Should a New Organization Replace UNRRA?"

ABC—8 Lum and Abner; 8 30, The O'Neills; 9 30 Boston Symphony Hour, 10 30 Hoosier Hop

MBS—8 Michael Shayne, detective; 8 30 The Falcon; 9 30 American Forum debate on closed shop.

Fiorello H LaGuardia, Director General of UNRRA, will uphold his recently proposed plan for feeding the world on "America's Town Meeting of the Air," Thursday night LaGuardia opposes Colonel Tyler Wood, U. S. representative to the UNRRA central committee, and special assistant to Will Clayton, under secretary of state, when the question "How Should Food Be Distributed When UNRRA Expires?" is debated. Special interrogators will be: Dr. William Yandell Elliott, Professor of Business at Harvard university, and Charles Gratke, foreign editor for the Christian Science Monitor. The program, broadcast over 213 stations of the American Broadcasting company, is heard from 8 30 to 9 30 p. m., with a preliminary meeting—not broadcast—beginning at 8 p. m.

All times given are Eastern Standard Time. Erroneous listings, if any, are caused by last-minute changes made by stations and networks.

Former Cardington Area Farmer Dies

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON, Nov. 26—Arthur Key, 76, retired farmer formerly of this community, died in the home of a daughter in Columbus yesterday.

A native of Marion county, he was born March 7, 1870. In 1894, he married Carrie Wickersham, who survives with the daughter in Columbus, Mrs. Hazel Dutton, another daughter, Mrs. Forence Rice of LaRue, seven grandchildren, a great-grandchild, a sister, Mrs. Anna Sellars of Cardington, and a brother, Charles Key of Marion.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2:30 p. m. in Curl's mortuary here by Rev. F. A. LePage, pastor of the Methodist church. Burial will be in Bethel cemetery northwest of Cardington.

Mrs. Ella Hartsock Dies in California

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON, Nov. 26—Mrs. Ella Barry Hartsock, 88, formerly of Cardington, died in the home of a daughter in North Hollywood, Calif., Sunday. She had made her home with the daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Shaw, a year. Her husband, Charles Hartsock, died some time ago. She was a member of the Methodist church and was the oldest past matron of Mildred chapter, O.E.S., at Cardington. Surviving with the daughter are two sons, Ralph of Newark and Jay of Cleveland.

Funeral services were conducted this morning in California, and further services will be conducted in the Curl mortuary here Friday at 1.30 p. m. by Rev. F. A. LePage of the Methodist church. Burial will be in Glendale cemetery. The body will arrive here tomorrow night.

A new process dries wood for railroad ties and other uses in 6 to 14 hours instead of 6 to 18 months.

OPENINGS
NOW FOR PICKED MEN
GOOD PAY AND EXPENSES

If you can measure up to the standards of the peacetime Regular Army, you now have an unusual opportunity. By enlisting for 3 years you can choose one of the famous fighting divisions now on occupation duty in Japan and Korea.

The divisions in which you can enlist include such outstanding units as the 1st Cavalry Division, 6th Infantry Division, 7th Infantry Division, 24th Infantry Division and 25th Infantry Division, each of which had a great battle record during the war.

After initial training in the U. S. you can join the unit of your choice and take part in the interesting work of maintaining a just peace in the Far East. You'll have the advantage of 20% extra pay for overseas service. Starting base pay for a Private overseas is $90 a month in addition to food, clothing, good quarters, medical and dental care. And you'll enjoy excellent living conditions, plenty of sightseeing, sports and recreation, and the satisfaction of doing a worth-while job. Enlistments open to men 18 to 34, inclusive (17 with parents' consent). Get full details at U. S. Army Recruiting Station, 304 W. Center St., Marion, Ohio.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"NOTHING whatever has happened to Sam," I told Sam's wife and was a bit ashamed of the acerbity in my voice. I knew that her nerves were frayed to the breaking point, but I also knew that if she were not kept down with an iron hand, the nerves of every one around her and especially mine, would be worn down to the last filament.

"He is just as you left him, as far as I know," I went on. "I have not seen him. I know nothing about him. I came to give Lillian an urgent message from Harry. Will you please come into the hall, Lillian?"

Helena flung herself back against the pillows, muttering something which I knew was distinctly uncomplimentary to me. I was surprised that she did not raise her voice in flaming attack upon me, then remembered that she had a wholesome respect for Lillian.

No Time for Comment

But I had no time for reflective comment upon Helena Brixton. I knew that I must make haste in getting down to the library and I delivered Harry's message quickly.

Lillian took it "in stride" as I had known she would. Her face and voice were as composed as ever as she listened.

"H-m!" she commented. "Looks like a wild night at sea! You lug, how I envy you, with a probable box seat at the show, while I'll be locked up in here, keeping a couple of lunatics comfortable in their little strait jackets."

"Don't grieve too much," I told her. "Father probably will lock me up, too."

"I wish he would," she said with sudden seriousness. "I don't like the idea of your stopping a stray bullet. But there's no use in asking either you or Harry to be careful, so I'll just stay put and pray. But—I'm not going to wait till the fracas starts before assuring Helena and Carolyn that they're safely locked in. I'm going to get the girls in here now, and read the riot act to Helena and Carolyn. So please, if you love me, lock both outside doors when I go back through this one."

"I'll be glad to," I told her. "Good-night!"

She put her arms around me with one of her rare caresses.

"Good night—and—good hunting!" she said with a distinct tremolo in her voice — her only sign of emotion.

Speech Is Impossible

Answering speech was impossible for me. The familiar slogan from my friend and comrade through so many crises tied my vocal cords in a hard knot. I kissed her cheek hurriedly, as she loosened the clasp of her arms, and went back into her room.

I locked both bedroom doors, and, speeding back to my own room, locked the keys in my desk. Then, with the key to the desk safely hidden on my person, I hurried down the stairs to the library.

I heard masculine voices in animated discussion, but, as I came in, the conversation ceased abruptly, as if, I told myself, a radio program had been switched off.

They were not going to do any more broadcasting, I mentally commented, while I was present, and I found myself compelled to curb with an iron hand the rebellion flaming within me at my role of errand girl.

A Formal Greeting

"Sit down, Margaret," my father said formally, pulling out a chair for me. I sat down in it, and folded my hands meekly in my lap. I would go through with the role of Patient Griselda if it killed me, I told myself, but nearly failed in the characterization when I met Harry Underwood's amused eyes.

I caught back a resentful chuckle as my father began speaking.

"Margaret," he began, "when I came through the upper hall just now, I saw the boys playing chess up there. They said that you had suggested they station themselves there in order to be sure that neither Mrs. Brixton nor her daughter tried to go up the attic stairs."

"That is correct," I told him. "I did give them that assignment."

"And a very wise proceeding it was," he said. "Now, I want your opinion. I shall need Harry tonight, perhaps all night. He was going to share Katharine's watch over Sam. Are the two boys capable of taking his place? I mean could they cope with Sam if he became obstreperous?"

A "foam suit" which enabled men who fell into the sea to keep warm for two or three hours was developed in Germany during the war.
